Casciola Out as Princeton Coach; Record Outweighs His Popularity

Bob Casciola, Princeton's football coach for the past five years, will not have his contract renewed when it expires in June. Announcement to that effect was made Monday by Royce N. Flippin, Jr., the University's Director of Athletics, who reported further that a search for Casciola's successor would be undertaken immediately.

It is likely, however, that a matter of weeks will pass before the position is filled. When Dick Colman resigned in 1968, Jake McCandless, one of his assistants, was not named to succeed him until more than a month had gone by. McCandless, in turn, resigned precipitously in early January of '73, and the search that ended in selection of Casciola continued for nearly two months.

While Flippin's statement did not spell out in full the reason for Casciola's departure, a lack of enchantment with his 14-30-1 record was implicit in the announcement. During the Casciola regime, Princeton never defeated Brown or Penn and the 11th straight loss to Yale by a 44-8 score two weeks ago was one of the most one-sided in the century-old rivalry.

There had been speculation since the season ended that Casciola's great popularity with his players might be the determining factor in a decision to renew his services here. A number of them had spoken to Flippin and to other members of the administration on his behalf, but those who felt that insufficient progress had been made in restoring Princeton football to respectability prevailed.

Flippin's statement follows:

"We are beginning today a search for a new head football coach to succeed Robert F. Casciola '58. I will direct this search, with the advice and counsel of appropriate University officials, students, alumni and others, including the following: Anthony J. Maruca '54, Vice-President for Administrative Affairs; J. Anderson Brown '69, Dean of Student Affairs; Robert G. Jahn '51, Dean of Engineering and Applied Science and Faculty Representative to the Football Program; Timothy C. Callard '63, Director of Admission; David G. Rahr '60, Director of the Alumni Council; Gregory Bauman '79 and Robert Ehrlich '79, recently elected co-captains of football for 1978; James C. Blair '61, President of the Friends of Princeton Football; and Richard R. Pivirotto '52, Chairman, Trustee Committee on Health and Athletics.

"This search results from my recommendation, accepted by President Bowen, not to extend Bob Casciola's contract as head football coach which expires in June, 1978. This decision was reached after wide consultation and the most careful consideration.

Medical Center Planning to Add 30 Beds; Current Occupancy Rate .2% Short of 100

The Medical Center announced Thursday that it plans to add 30 beds to its medical-surgical supply, if the state grants the required approval.

Earlier this year, during Township Zoning Board hearings related to the Medical Center's new parking garage, John Kauffman, executive vice-president of the Center, had said there were no plans to add beds.

"I said that because I wasn't sure yet," he told reporters on Thursday.

He said he began discussions in August with the Center's planning committee and was given permission to explore the possibility of expansion. He met in September with architects Rogers, Butler and Burgun, he said.

The Center needs the 30 beds, Mr. Kauffman explained, because through October of this year, 1,463 elective procedures have had to be re-scheduled. This means people entering the hospital for medical or surgical reasons that aren't immediate and urgent—an appendix that ought to come out "some day," a new hip for an arthritis sufferer, and so on.

It doesn't necessarily mean 1,463 people, he pointed out. The same patient might have been bumped more than once.

Through October of this year, he continued, the hospital has had an occupancy rate of 99.8 percent. In all of 1976, the rate was 98.2 percent and in 1975, 97.4 percent.

Medical-surgical patients at the Medical Center stayed an average of 7.3 days last year, compared to 9.1 days for all other Mercer County hospitals, Mr. Kauffman reported. For all patients, the average stay is 6.1 days, compared to 8.8 days in New Jersey's other community hospitals.

"We can have a short length of stay like this because we have Merwick (the extended-care unit on Bayard Lane) for people who need extended care, but the situation is going to get worse."

The additional 30 beds will bring the hospital to a 90 percent occupancy rate, and will ease it past 1980 with 96 percent. Length of stay can't be reduced any lower, he said, except by half a day or so. Plans for satellites in Pennington-Hopewell, Hightstown and so on, were set aside—too expensive.

Architects plan to re-do the area in the Center's 1926 building that will be vacated by maternity. From the present labor and delivery rooms and bed rooms, they will create 18 single-bed rooms and six two-bed rooms, all for medical-surgical patients.

Four of the new rooms will be in the studio style, with a couch that can be made into a bed, in case a member of the family wants to stay with the recovering patient.

"We've had a lot of complaints about our lack of private rooms," Mr. Kauffman commented, "and some of these have been from our major contributors...."

From the county Comprehensive Health Planning Agency, then the Federal Hospital Systems Agency and then the New Jersey Commissioner of Health, the Medical Center must obtain a certificate of need for the new beds, and Mr. Kauffman said he plans to file his application by the end of December with an answer expected by April, and occupancy by the end of 1978.

"That 97 percent occupancy figure made us face up to the problem," Mr. Kauffman said, "but we couldn't add beds because of the lack of operating room, coronary and intensive care space."

In the new "J" Building, he said, there will be a new coronary care unit with six beds – the present one has four. Next door will be a nine-bed intensive-care unit, the same size as now.

A 14-bed recovery room with two isolation beds will relieve pressure on the intensive care area. A new 20-bed Special Services unit, next to coronary care, will have telemetric monitoring to "wean" patients from coronary care.

While the Center is asking authorization for 30 more medical-surgical beds, it will also seek authorization to reduce pediatrics from 24 to 20 beds. Federal officials say the Center should have 65 percent average occupancy which can't be achieved with 24 beds, Mr Kauffman said. Occupancy is 55 percent now.

"Pediatricians don't see a growth in their practice," he explained. "Kids are treated at home. When we change pediatrics, we'll make four single rooms because most of the kids here have respiratory infections and require isolation. Our two four-bed rooms just aren't utilized.

"If our request for 30 beds is OKd," Mr. Kauffman said, "they'll be the cheapest beds ever—only $100,000 per bed. We didn't think we could afford another floor on the "J" building at $2 million per floor. This will be under half a million."

Meanwhile, construction plods ahead on the "J" building and the new garage, with possible September 1 completion of the garage.

The Township has provided 132 temporary parking spaces at the pool and tennis court lots, the Franklin Avenue staff parking lot has been increased from 212 to 302 spaces with some "stacked" parking—one behind another. There will be no use of the Borough's Maclean Street lot which Mr. Kauffman regards as "an undesirable place to ask people to park, especially after dark....it's isolated, you reach it through an alley."

Visitors and staff in the Medical Arts Building use the pool and court areas where there are security guards from 9-5. Patients for the Medical Arts building use the main parking lot.

Returning to plans for the 30 new beds, Mr. Kauffman said,

"There has been a four-to-six-week wait for elective work. We want the community to know we aren't just sitting here unconcerned."

Casciola to Be Replaced

"It was a difficult decision because Bob has contributed much to Princeton football since he joined us in 1973. He has earned my respect and the respect of many others, including his players. On balance, however, I have concluded that the football program will benefit from new leadership.

"In undertaking this search, we will be guided by the statement of former Trustee Franklin E. Agnew '56 that football at Princeton be a program of "high quality which will make a positive and lasting contribution to the lives of those who participate and which will assure that Princeton competes effectively and successfully within the Ivy League." We are confident that our football program can achieve both of these important objectives and we are determined to see that it does."

BANK FIRE OBSERVED

By Passing Pedestrian. A pedestrian walking on Nassau Street last Wednesday evening at 9:24 observed a fire in the Princeton Bank and Trust Company and called police from the telephone at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Street.

After Ptl. William Fitch, Ptl. John Holcombe and Sgt. Thomas Michaud responded, Ptl. Fitch forced his way inside by smashing a pane of glass. Police requested one piece of equipment for a fire that was burning in a trash cart. With the aid of fireman Tom Johnson, they extinguished the blaze but not before there was some damage to the carpeting and a railing.

Stove Fire. A cooking pan left on a stove at the apartment of Shelly Craig, 40 Tupelo Row, led to a call for aid at 2:35 Saturday morning.

Ptl. David Wilbur reports that the bottom of the pan melted out, leaving char marks on top of the stove. There was also some charing and blistering of paint on a wall behind the stove. The fire was extinguished by a unit of the volunteer firemen.

Car Fire. The car of Susan Bauch of East Windsor had to be towed away last week after a fire erupted in its engine compartment. Police said the cause was an electrical short.

Miss Bauch's car was in a driveway on North Harrison Street near Clearview when a firemen arrived.

Badly Eroded Platform at 'Dinky' Station Remains Hazardous after One Injury Occurs

On the platform of the Penn-Central railroad station on University Place, a hole more than eight inches in diameter has been created by gradual erosion and total neglect. There is a distance of some four feet between the platform and the roadbed which serves the "Dinky."

On one side of the hole, a pointed iron spike sticks out. Nearly three inches long, it is as sharp as an animal's teeth. If there were some way to make it rotate, the man-trap could easily have been created by Edgar Allan Poe.

Friday night shortly after 10 o'clock, James M. Mead of 25 Phillip Drive, stepped off the "Dinky" on his way home from Baltimore. A former manager of the Merrill Lynch office in Trenton, he has for the past three months been commuting on weekends to a similar position with another brokerage house in Baltimore.

"Suddenly, I blacked out, without knowing what had happened to me," he said. "I'm not sure, but I think I lost consciousness for around 30 to 40 seconds."

A Narrow Miss. Mr. Mead lost consciousness from the force of the fall he experienced when his left leg went through the hole, to a point above the knee. His trousers were torn, he suffered lacerations, abrasions and shock--but miraculously, he did not come in contact with the spike.

A member of the train crew came to his aid, but Mr. Mead was able to extricate himself and drive to the Princeton Medical Center. Treatment included a tetanus shot but he was able to go home and has not experienced further complicatons.

On Sunday, Mr. Mead telephoned TOWN TOPICS to report his experience. "The train conductor who gave me a hand said he had reported the condition of the platform three weeks ago but that nothing has been done about it.

"I am simply astonished at the arrogance of those responsible, knowing that such a condition existed and not taking even the simplest precautions to rope off the area. I was lucky--my trousers gave me some protection, and I missed the spike. Imagine the kind of injury a woman in skirts might have suffered!"

By Sunday morning, some 36 hours after Mr. Mead's experience, nothing had been done to prevent similar injury to anyone else. Spotting a number of trash cans nearby, he and TOWN TOPICS' reporter placed one of them over the hole on the platform to provide at least a temporary barrier.

Inspection shows numerous other areas on the platform--one of them directly in front of an entrance to the "Dinky" as it was standing Sunday morning--where the surface is highly irregular. The shuttle is part of the Conrail system, and the station is the property of the New Jersey Department of Transportation.

INFORMED VOTE SOUGHT

For Referendum on PHS. Take a guided tour of Princeton High the evening of Wednesday, November 30 (8 p.m.) and see for yourself what the girls' gym locker-room is like and how crowded the library is.

That's the invitation of the Princeton High School PTO, whose board supports the $4,366,000 bond issue which Princeton residents will vote on December 13.

A citizens group called BRIC -- Bond Referendum Information Committee -- has gathered itself together to sell the bond issue to the community. Since the citizens study committee was called BRAC, this lends itself to BRIC-a-BRAC, as committee members are well aware.

BRIC formed spontaneously after a school board meeting, and includes chiefly men and women who have time to spare for their project. Many former BRAC members are on BRIC.

Large Turnout Urged. Eventually, the PTO at the high school will reach every parent in the district by telephone, not advocating a "yes" vote -- the law doesn't allow that -- but simply urging people to get out and vote. People who want information will be given hot-line numbers to call. The telephone get-out-the-vote campaign will start December 1, according to Jane Evans, PTO president at the high school.

At the Middle School, whose pupils are the high school students of two and three years from now, the PTO will talk about the referendum at coffee and conversation Monday.

The PTO board at Community Park elementary school has already toured the high school, and the whole membership will make the tour December 5. The Riverside School board has also made the tour, and the full membership will make the rounds of the high school December 7.

A letter urging a "yes" vote, paid for by the high school PTO board, will be mailed in early December. Again, the law prohibits sending advocacy literature home with school children.

"Our library just doesn't meet state standards," Mrs. Evans says, "It's for 500 kids, and we've got a thousand. The cheapest way to enlarge it, is to cut through to the present girls' gym. The boys' gym can't accommodate both boys and girls, so a new gym would be built, the only totally new thing."

"Seats are gone from the auditorium, not because of kids' vandalism, but because they're wooden and 50 years old and have dried out. When a hinge goes, it has to be hand-forged and this costs more than the seat is worth, so the seats are taken out. Interior doors are so old the present 'panic bars' won't fit....."

Ceiling tile in the corridors -- not in the classrooms -- is the old-fashioned kind that gives

by Archie Browne
WHICH WINE SHALL WE HAVE WITH THE TURKEY?
Everyone except the helpless turkey is concerned with what particular wine to serve with the roasted Gobbler. Most people prefer a light red Bordeaux or a California Gamay Beaujolais. There is no hard and fast rule governing the choice of what specific wine to drink with turkey, and many turkey lovers enjoy a full-bodied white wine such as Puligny Montrochet from Burgundy or a Graves from Bordeaux. A spicy glass of Gerwurtztraminer from Alsace is delightful with the bird, and a Pinot Chardonay from California goes equally well with this festive dish. Regardless of what wine you choose to serve with the turkey, enjoy the meal, and a Happy Thanksgiving.

off toxic fumes when it burns.

"If the bond-issue doesn't pass, and we have to take about $1 million from the regular budget just to keep the building safe, we'll lose programs and teachers because of budget caps and the whole system, kindergarten through 12th grade, will be affected," Mrs. Evans believes.

She says she thinks many members of the original BRAC study committee who were opposed to renovation at the start of the study, "had their thinking turned around when they saw the school's needs."

70 UNITS PLANNED

For Constitution Hill. A cluster of 70 houses and apartments -- 69 in the Township and one in the Borough -- lying in an elbow of land between Elm Lane and Rosedale Road is ready for discussion with the Township Zoning Board late in December (Wednesday, December 28).

The developer is architect A. Perry Morgan and the land is the Morgan family's Constitution Hill property. Plans call for an entrance off Elm Lane -- which, in turn, is off Elm Road -- and an exit onto Rosedale Road.

The property comprises 47 acres, five of them in the Borough. The part within the Borough will be left in open space, except for one of the ten single-family houses Mr. Morgan has in his plans.

He wants to build 26 single-family houses with two or three bedrooms. Each house would have a flat for the owner to rent. These houses are in the Township where flats are permitted.

No Flats. The development would also have ten single-family houses of perhaps three bedrooms. Nine of these houses are in the Township. The tenth is over the municipal line. Mr. Morgan is not providing flats for these units, even for the ones in the Township, because he wants to follow the density requirements of the neighboring Borough. Flats are not permitted in the Borough.

"We feel that flats represent the best way to get maximum use of the land," he said this week.

In addition, Mr. Morgan plans to convert existing buildings on the property into eight apartments. He needs use variances from the Township for this part of his plan.

All the land will be held in common, he says, with no individual lot dimensions. There will be 22 acres of houses and 25 acres of open space. Houses will be owned under a condominium arrangement.

Because of common ownership and clustering, there are complex questions which Mr. Morgan and the zoning board must work out. Once they have been resolved, Mr. Morgan must go before the environmental design review (site plan) committee. He is, incidentally, chairman of that committee.

ONE TOWER? TWO?

And Interference? Static seems to be sputtering around the Township's plans to move its new ultra-high-frequency police radio tower to a spot behind Borough Hall near the Borough's tower.

The Planning Board's site plan review committee isn't happy about having two towers instead of one and Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Monday that he'd always thought there would be a single tower for the two municipalities--Borough and Township. Not so, said Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney, the Borough never planned to give up the tower it now has.

The Township's consultant, Robert Conroy, thought there would be only one tower, too. He's concerned that the Township's new tower may cause interference for the Borough's police radio,-- "shadow" it, he says. Also the 100-foot distance between tower and transmitter in Borough Hall is said to be too great. The Township is scheduled to appear before the Planning Board Tuesday, December 6, for a conditional use permit.

FIRE GUTS KITCHEN

In Mountain Avenue Home. A Monday fire that destroyed the kitchen of the home of E. Drexel Godfrey Jr., 81 Mountain Avenue, also resulted in extensive smoke and water damage. No one was home at the time.

The fire was confined to the kitchen, which is a blackened ruin, but firemen report they do not yet know what caused the blaze. A general alarm was sounded at 4:18.

Princeton University freshman Allene Russell said that she was jogging by the house when she noticed an orange glow inside. She went up, looked in, saw it was a fire and banged on the door but received no answer.

Miss Russell said that she then ran to a house across the street and kept banging on the door until a man answered. She told him to call in the alarm. "The glass got all hot and the windows started to pop," she reported, allowing flames to spread outward.

According to neighbors, the Godfreys and their daughter, Susan, were out shopping at the time. They had moved into the two-story wooden frame home some three years ago and had re-modeled it 18 months ago. The kitchen is located in the right front room.

"All the family was coming home for Thanksgiving," a neighbor said. "Now all that's gone by the board."

WOMAN IS MUGGED

On Harrison Street. A 61-year old Trenton woman, an employee of Opinion Research Corporation, was mugged at 12:05 Saturday morning on North Harrison Street near the ORC building.

According to police, the victim was leaving work on her way to a bus stop when she was approached by a black male, approximately 5-6, wearing a multi-colored cap, black pants and shoes and a beige leather jacket. He struck her in the face with an object, causing lacerations of her nose and cheek.

The victim wrestled with her assilant, who succeeded in grabbing her arm bag. Although knocked to the ground, she continued to fight back, police said, striking her assailant with a shopping bag she was carrying.

Her assailant fled on foot after he searched her purse and told her, "You ain't got a damn thing in here." Police confirmed the mugger obtained no money from the victim.

The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center by Miss Shelly Craig and Shawn Craig of Princeton Community Village, who found her sitting on a curb near the bus stop dazed and bleeding. The police investigation is being continued by Det. Frank Boccanfuso and Ptl. Robert Nielsen.

FIVE ARE INJURED

In Intersection Crash. Five persons, three in a small foreign car, were treated at Princeton Medical Center for injuries received when two cars collided Sunday afternoon at Mount Lucas Road and Ewing Street.

George M. Scott, 61, 195 John Street, the driver of one car; his wife, Nancy, 59; and the second driver, Douglas G. Hahn, 33, 42 Slayback Drive, Princeotn Junction, were all treated for abrasions and lacerations and released.

Chris Hahn, 9, received head injuries but was released from the hospital Sunday night. Bertha Hahn, 75, of Madison, Wis., sustained head

Some Electricity and a Whole Lot of Hail Belabor Our Town

At 2 o'clock Thursday, the sun was shining. An hour later, it had been replaced by black storm clouds, and by 4 o'clock, Princetonians found out what was in them.

Lightning made its appearance first. If it was accompanied by thunder, the sound was largely drowned out by hail stones bouncing savagely off window panes, metal air conditioner tops, tree limbs, car roofs, streets and sidewalks.

Five minutes after it began, the hail abated--for a brief interval only--and then resumed in much wilder fashion. Nassau Street traffic continued to move, but pedestrians scurried for shelter. Hard hats were hard to find at short notice.

Nearby communities, particularly Ewing Township, where damage to individual homes ran to thousands of dollars, were much more severely afflicted than Princeton. Because ice clogged the streets, storm drains quickly overflowed, but Borough and Township Police Departments were both surprised to find that not a single call reporting actual damage had been received. The lone casualty in broken windows appeared to be theirs: one in Township police headquarters.

On Witherspoon Street, 7-year old Alfie Zullo corralled a number of the hail stones and brought them in to his father, Domenick, who put them in the freezer at Reilley's Market, where he is one of the owners. For the record, a picture of several of them was taken (above) next to a pack of cigarettes. It proved that, while sizeable, they were not as big as the proverbial golf balls which are given lip service as soon as the evidence melts away.

The top picture, in near-Stygian darkness, was taken about 4:30 outside TOWN TOPICS on Mercer Street. Ice was two or possibly three incles deep until it succumbed to the 50-degree temperature, but one of the Trenton dailies had a story all its own. "In Princeton borough," it revealed "the winds were so strong at one point that drifts of hailstones four or five feet high were reported."

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents and internal injuries and was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit.

According to Ptl. Jerry Offredo, the Scott car, traveling on Mount Lucas, failed to observe the stop sign at the Ewing intersection and struck the small Hahn car. Mr. Scott was ticketed for a stop sign violation.

THEFT REPORT

Purses, Wallets Taken. Those old standbys, unattended wallets and purses, were plucked by thieves last week in Princeton.

An office worker on the fifth floor of the First National Bank reported the theft Friday of her purse from under her desk. She lost $30 and credit cards.

Another employee in an office at One Palmer Square reported the theft of her wallet containing $5 and credit cards from under her desk, and an office worker in the Woodrow Wilson Foundation building lost $70 and credit cards when her purse was taken from a file cabinet. It was later found on the Princeton University campus, minus the money.

A student at Westminster Choir College lost $11 and her checkbook when her pocketbook was taken last week from her unlocked dormitory room.

Leather Coat Stolen. Barbara Sobel of East Windsor Township told Township police last week that her brown leather coat valued at $135 was stolen from a bench in the waiting room of Dr. Robert Bierman, 66 Mount Lucas Road, during the half-hour she was in the doctor's office. Also taken were her gloves and scarf valued at $43.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE: Firemen from six municipalities responded to an alerm shortly after 5 Monday morning when the Zentco Plastics warehouse on Route 31 north of Pennington burned. About half the building was destroyed.

A $200 pocket calculator was stolen from an unlocked student's room in Eno Hall on the university campus last week. Police are looking for a suspect seen leaving the room. He was described in his early 20s, heavy set, blonde hair, wearing white painter's coveralls and a yellow shirt.

A locked moped valued at $450 was stolen Friday from the yard of a Harrison Street resident but was recovered the same evening at the rear of Princeton High School. Police said the lock had been broken and a chain cut to free the moped.

RAPE FORUM SET

For Next Wednesday. A forum on rape -- what to do if it happens, how to protect yourself from it -- will be held next Wednesday evening, November 30, at 8 p.m. in the Wilcox Red Lounge, Wilson Residential College on the south end of the Princeton University campus. Parking is available in Lot 5 off Washington Road.

All university students and residents of the Princeton community area are invited to attend the free forum, which will feature speaker Ann Miner, of a Rape Crisis Intervention Center, associated with Metuchen Hospital. Ms. Miner will discuss "Rape: Myths and Realities."

The forum is the project of Sue Fox, co-ordinator for the Sexuality Education, Counseling and Health Program at

Want a Tax Rebate?

December 1 is the deadline for filing the application for homestead tax rebate under New Jersey's income-tax law. The next payment is scheduled for April 1, 1978.

Rebate forms were mailed to home-owners earlier this month, and if you did not receive one, you should call the tax office (Borough: 924-3439; Township; 924-1058) to obtain a copy. To qualify for a rebate, your home must have been your principal place of residence on October 1 of this year.

The first 1978 payment will be half the total yearly amount, as it was in 1977. Unless the New Jersey State Legislature re-enacts the income tax or appropriates money from some other source, there will be no payment in the second half of the year. The income tax law expires June 30.

Princeton University and sophomore Debbie Borstein, a member of the University's Women's Center and a worker for one and a half years at the Cleveland Rape Crisis Center.

Also attending will be Chief Michael Carnevale and members of the Borough and Township police departments, University President William Bowen, the Dean of Students, staff members from the university's infirmary and legal department, and members of the Women's Crisis Center in New Brunswick. There will also be pamphlets on how to prevent rape and procedures to follow in the case of rape all the way through court proceedings.

The forum is in response to a recent series of rapes and assaults in Princeton and nearby communities that has caused concern among women on campus.

Ms. Fox said that students felt the incidents had not been fully reported in the university newspaper. "There is a tendency to say, 'Oh, good, they caught the guy, we can relax.' But rape is an ever-present threat everywhere and we have to learn to deal with that," Ms. Fox said.

JUVENILES ARRESTED

For Marijuana Possession. Two Township juveniles were arrested last week by Borough police and charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

The two, a 17-year old youth and a 15-year old girl, were observed at 11:45 Friday morning in a parked car on Franklin Avenue by Ptl. Randy Sutton. He allegedly saw beer in the car. Police also confiscated two marijuana smoking pipes.

The 17-year old was also charged with possession of alcoholic beverages. After being processed by juvenile authorities, they were released to their parents.

Two 17-year old Maryland youths, hitchhiking on Route 206 last week, have been charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. They were stopped by Ptl. Mario Musso, who learned after asking for their identification, that they were runaways.

They were taken to headquarters, where police found a metal pipe used for smoking marijuana in the pocket of one and a plastic bag containing vegetation believed to be marijuana. In the sleeping bag of the other, police allegedly found two plastic bags containing marijuana.

The youths were processed and then released to their parents, who arrived from Maryland.

A 16-year old Township youth was charged with larceny, after he allegedly stole a 20-lb. bag of charcoal from the Mary Watts Store on Route 206.

He was a passenger in a car seen parked next to the store at 12:30 Saturday morning by Ptl. Robert Nielsen and Ptl. Dave Wilbur. The suspects' car began leaving the lot when the patrol car arrived but was stopped by the police.

SNOWDEN CULVERT

How Big? Borough and Township will join to recommend a Snowden Lane culvert size to Mercer County engineers, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week.

"What's the minimum size that will protect upstream property-owners--that's what we want to know," the mayor said, "When (Borough Engineer) George Olexa comes up with the figure, that will be the joint position of the two Princetons to the county."

Mr. Olexa said this week the appropriate size might be about that of the Harriet Drive culvert—eight by five feet. The present Snowden Lane Culvert is six by six and the county has proposed one 20 feet wide and six feet high. Township residents who live downstream, protest this as too large.

SANTA TO FLY IN

To Shopping Center. Santa Claus will begin his annual visit to the Shopping Center Friday when he will land by helicopter at 11 behind Bamberger's.

After landing he will go directly to Santaland (Sylvan Pools), where he will be staying until Christmas. Boys and girls may visit him there Mondays through Fridays from noon until 5 and on Saturdays from 10 to 5.

This year there will be a Santa's mailbox in front of Sylvan Pools where children may deposit their letters to Santa. In the four week period before Christmas, 27 letters will be chosen at random and read over the air on radio station WHWH. Winners will also receive a $10 gift certificate at the store of their choice in the Shopping Center.

There will also be a drawing for a stuffed, five-foot Santa which will be on display in Santaland. A gift wrapping service, staffed by the Princeton Jaycees, will be available next to Santaland on three consecutive Saturdays, December 10, 17 and 24, from 11 to 4. The Boychoir of Princeton will be on the Mall to sing Christmas songs on Saturday, December 17, at 1.

RESORT AREA PLANNED

Near Jamesburg. The Forsgate Country Club of Jamesburg and the Frank Briscoe Construction Co., of East Orange have announced a joint venture to develop an expanded recreational and resort lodge on 22 acres of Forsgate Farm. The project will include approximately 300 sleeping rooms, a banquet facility for over 1,000, an indoor-outdoor pool, tennis courts and restaurants.

The location is just off Exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike and will become a community center as well as provide accommodations for the public. Designed in the same colonial manner as Forsgate Country Club, the new complex will have all low-rise buildings to conform to the orderly growth of middle New Jersey.

The dual venture will make a formal proposal to the governmental agencies involved for approval in the near future. Central figures in initiation of the program are John F. Abeel Jr., President of Forsgate, and Walter Kehoe, Vice-President of Briscoe. Opening is projected for 1979.

HOUSE TOUR DEC. 6

To Benefit NJNPI. Christmas in Princeton, the annual house tour sponsored by the Association of the New Jersey Neuro - Psychiatric Institute, will take place Tuesday, December 6, from 10 to 4. Mrs. Henry Jeffers III and Mrs. Norman F. S. Russell are co - chairmen of the event which will feature six area homes decorated for the holidays.

Open to the public for the benefit of the residents at the Institute will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Barringer which features the lifetime accumulation of two families who lived abroad; the colonial home of Mrs. Ferdinand Roebling White in a country setting; the home of Gen. and Mrs. William Whipple Jr. with its Victorian furniture and glass and antique oriental rugs.

Also, the home of Mrs. Robert Scotten which is characterized by crystal, gold and white formal elegance; the contemporary home and studio of Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward III (Mrs. Woodward is a needlepoint designer) which is done in bright greens and blues; and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal W. O'Conner in which Mrs. O'Connor's sense of color and form as an artist have been used to good effect.

Christmas in Princeton also features a collection of Christmas shops in the Hun School. These include Act II (quality clothing at bargain prices), Assemblee Gallery (antique and contemporary quilts); The Piggy Bank, formerly Jewels Fargo (jewelry, bags, belts and accessories); and the Country Kitchen.

A special attraction this year is a handmade doll house which has been appraised at $3,000 and which will be raffled off. Inspired by Bainbridge House, the house has a drawing room, study, dining room, kitchen, center hall and four bedrooms. Unfurnished, it has handmade needlepoint rugs on the floors, hand carved stair rails and six fireplaces with hand carved mantels.

Raffle tickets are $1 and are available at Gallery 100 and the Princeton Gift Shop. The drawing will take place at 3 at the Hun School.

Tickets to the house tour are $7.50 each and may be obtained from Mrs. Bertram F. Bonner, 36 Rosedale Road, or by calling 466-1047.

ORGANIZERS: Mrs. Henry Jeffers III (left), and Mrs. Norman F.S. Russell Jr. are co-chairmen of the 1977 Christmas in Princeton which will take place Tuesday, December 6, from 10 until 4 and benefit the NJNPI.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

Wintry Moths

with Sam deTuro

Light tan to gray colored moths can be seen flitting at night around lighted windows or congregating beneath porch or street lights.

These moths become active, says Sam deTuro of Woodwinds Associates, after there is chill in the air, and some continue this activity into December

Only the males of these moths fly; the females are wingless. The larger of these moths is buff colored and known as the linden looper, which in spring is a great defoliator of a wide variety of trees.

The smaller, darker moth is the adult of the fall cankerworm. Brownish gray in color, it has a wing expanse of an inch to one and one-fourth inches.

The male moths that flit mean that female moths are nearby and depositing eggs on trees The presence of large numbers of such moths is often indicative of things to come next spring Plans should be made now to protect valuable shade trees next May with the use of a good contact insecticide properly timed and applied

STEINAR'S SHEARLINGS

Landau's has the most luxurious sheepskin garments in the world they are very lightweight, pliable, durable and sensuous These shearlings are designed by the expert Icelandic furrier, Steinar Juliusson, a true craftsman whose creations are a standard for shearling excellence

The remarkable properties of Icelandic sheepskins result from the superb weather proteciton they receive from the sheep's unusually dense wool coat. Because they are so well insulated, Icelandic shearlings do not become thick or tough as do the skins of other sheep

Each shearling used by Steinar is vat dyed onor to hand fabrication rather than surface dyed after the garment is completed. This effective dyeing process prevents spotting and staining from rain and snow Steinar selects the most pliable skins for the arms where the most flexibility is required and utilizes the most durable skins for the back and shoulders to ensure a lifetime of wear. The skins are then cut, edges shaved and sections sewn together by one person who has responsibility for the perfection of the finished product

Steinar gives each garment individual attention. He designs these coats and jackets to have meticulously stitched mini-seams which gives them a slim, tailored look seldom found in other shearlings Only 35 garments a week are turned out in Steinar's workshop.

Wear a Steinar Sherling for a new feeling of lushness, comfort and warmth. Carried exclusively in North America by Landau's had received a call from University proctors requesting assistance. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. Peter Hanley responded.

Kidd was charged with trespassing, with assaulting Proctor Douglas Watson Jr., with possession of stolen property (sneakers taken from a student's dormitory room, identified by Mr. Watson) and with resisting arrest by Ptl. Hanley. He is scheduled to appear in Borough court December 20.

Township police charged him with trespassing at 2:05 Saturday morning in 1940 Hall on the university campus, after being warned previously by proctors. The complainant was Proctor Sinclair Hill. Court date for that charge: December 15.

David Dunham, 20, no known address, was charged with trespassing when proctors discovered him sleeping in Lockhart Hall at 2:30 last Wednesday morning. He faces a December 21 court hearing.

LAUNDRY LIST

At Work Sessions. Working clothes will be in order next Wednesday, November 30, when Borough Council and Township Committee sit down--separately--to catch up on pending business.

Most of the 8 p.m. Borough Hall session will be devoted to rent levelling. Council will formally approve the ordinance extending controls to January 31, and then will talk about what to do after that.

In Township Hall, Committee members will continue discussions of Systech, the company that wants to lease the old sewer plant, and Committee hopes the Borough will approve its letter to Systech. The Township hopes that, since the Borough will presumably share any payments from Systech, as a member of the Sewer Operating Committee it might also be willing to share costs of winterizing the old plant.

Rail service to Princeton Junction, allocation of gallonage in the Montgomery sewer system, a report from the sub-committee charged with studying a Landmarks ordinance, and a final polishing of the ordinance linking Borough and Township environmental commissions will all be on the work sheet.

SHOPLIFTER FINED

In Township Court. In Township court last week, Judge Philip Carchman fined Maxine R. Moore, 61 Random Road, $160 for shoplifting. Michael Marcantonio, 88 Valley Road, was fined $260 for possession of stolen property.

Joanne Colley, 34 Mulberry Row, and Yvonne Barclay, 24 Mulberry Row, who had accused each other of using foul language, were each fined $15.

In traffic court, Julia Gorenstein, 82 Philip Drive, and Leroy A. deRosset, 908A Kingston Road, were each fined $30 for failing to stop at a stop sign. Improper backing cost Leo Brannick, 140 Grover Avenue, $30.

ANNIVERSARY MARKED

By High School Radio Station. Saturday marked the second anniversary of WWPH, the student radio station of West Windsor - Plainsboro High School.

The non-profit, non-commercial, educational station, at 90.3 FM on the dial, has a listener range of 10 miles. The station's slogan, "Inform, Educate, Entertain," reflects its goal to serve the community and enrich high school students' education.

The 10-watt station was established in 1975, after the high school principal, Ronald Watson, and John Bowker, a West Windsor resident, obtained approval of the Board of Education and the Federal Communication Commission. Mr. Bowker, who is the holder of a first-class radio-telephone license with broadcast endorsement, installed much of the station's equipment himself during the summer before the station opened.

The student disc jockeys are on the air from 7 to 4 every school day, bringing the community "top 40" music, sports, weather, public service announcements and special features. In addition, local, state, national and international news and sports reports are broadcast on the hour, every hour.

Special features include the New Jersey Educational Association's "Speaking of Schools" series aired at 12:45 every day and a "TV Preview" segment that can be heard daily at 3:20. Through the station's Public Service Announcement Program, community public service announcements are aired. Any individual, business, or organizational interested in this program should call Randy Kimmelman, PSA Director, between 7 and 4 at 799-3143 Monday through Friday.

Another WWPH special feature is the "Favorite 40" survey. Results of the latest survey are in a pamphlet available at no cost at the station, and at Lucar Hardware and The Junction Pharmacy, both on Princeton - Hightstown Road.

Athletic event broadcasts are also a part of WWPH programming. The station covered home varsity football games this fall, and will soon broadcast girls' and boys' varsity basketball games and wrestling matches this winter.

The station, whose license expires in June, is applying to the FCC for renewal. WWPH welcomes comments or suggestions that listeners have and they can be mailed to WWPH-FM, 346 Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, N.J. 08550.

THE FUN OF CLAY ON A THUMB: This happy boy is Berret O'Brien-O'Neill, and he is in the pre-school at Stuart Country Dey School. There will be an open house Wednesday, November 30, from 8:30 to 11:45 to which parents are invited with their children. Jeanne Rich, head teacher, will discuss "Pre-School: How to choose the right one for your three or four year old."

JAPAN NIGHT SET

At International Center. The Japan Club at Princeton University will hold a Japan Night dinner Thursday, December 1, from 5:30 to 9:30 at the International Center, 5 Ivy Lane.

The event, to which interested members of the community are invited, will feature Japanese food, liquors, and entertainment. A cocktail hour will be held from 5:30 to 6:30, followed by dinner and a one hour documentary film on common Japanese people, "Full Moon Lunch."

The cost is $3 per person. Tickets are available at the International Center.

SAVE THE DELAWARE

Rep. Fenwick at Work. Representative Millicent Fenwick (R., 5th Dist., N.J.) has testified in Washington in favor of legislation to designate 114 miles of the Delaware River as wild and scenic. The House Interior Committee held field hearings in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, on the bill originally introduced by Peter Kostmayer (D-Pa.).

Mrs. Fenwick, a co-sponsor of Kostmayer's bill, said the preservation of the Delaware River has an important environmental goal and one which could be accomplished through the wild and scenic designation. She also stressed the importance of recreation in her remarks to the Committee.

"Some time ago, when I was in the New Jersey legislature," she said, "a man from Union County wrote me about the need for a 'beautiful wild place, where I can take my family when I have my two weeks holiday. I'm a worker,' he wrote, 'and I haven't the time or the money for Yellowstone Park or the Grand Canyon. And that's why it is so important to keep this beautiful free-flowing river in its national setting of field and forest, a refreshment to the spirit for millions of people who live all year in our highly-industrialized, densely populated state.

"I have been hoping for this for a long time and working in every way to preserve the Delaware River area. It has been threatened by a plan to Want a "Say" on Budgets?

If you've got something to say about municipal budgets, you may speak your piece next Monday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

The 12 Princeton departments that are run jointly by Borough and Township will discuss their budget requests for 1978 with Administrators Joseph R. Nini and Robert Mooney, and the public will be invited to make recommendations.

The agencies are:

Public library, Recreation, Civil Rights, Planning Board, Corner House, Transportation, Crosstown '62, Aging, Civil Defense, Fire, Health and the Sewer Operating Committee.

Copies of budget requests from each agency are in Township Hall so you can read them in advance.

build a huge dam at Tocks Island, and although three of the four affected governors have voted against the dam construction at this time, and despite a suggestion by the Corps of Engineers that the plan be deauthorized, the project remains alive.

"Now Rep. Kostmayer has wisely taken the lead in proposing that the 114 miles of the Delaware from Hancock, New York, to Matamoras, Pennsylvania, be dedicated and preserved, once and for all, as a wild and scenic area. I am co-sponsoring this, and I hope all will join us. It will mean much to our children and grandchildren and to those, living now, who understand the importance of nature and beauty as an essential part of the good life."

CHAIRMAN ELECTED

At Hun School. Richard D. Challener of 152 Delaware Avenue, Pennington, has been elected chairman of the board of trustees of The Hun School. He succeeds Arthur G. Hailand, Jr.

Prof. Challener is currently on sabbatical leave from Princeton University, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1949. Most recently chairman of the department of history, he served from 1958-66 as assistant and associate Dean of the College.

A member of the board at Hun for seven years and past chairman of its Committee for Scholastic Affairs, Prof. Challener is also a member of the board of trustees of Lake Forest College and a member of the board of advisers of Stuart Country Day School.

24-Hour Cleaning Service For All LEATHER and SUEDE garments

by factory-trained personnel

Many owners of expensive suede and leather garments are concerned about the results of cleaning and reconditioning when they take them to their neighborhood cleaners. They know that most cleaners just don't have the knowledge, equipment or the desire to clean these delicate garments. They know that their garments will be shipped out to a "warehouse" cleaner to be cleaned in a tub of who knows what and then hung up for a week to get rid of the odor.

There is another way! Bring your garments in and talk directly to the person who will be doing the cleaning and reconditioning. We will look over any unusual conditions and you will be told exactly what to expect. We re-oil, re-dye and re-glaze all leather garments, and because we eliminate the middleman you can save as much as 15 percent. Our process is odorless, colorless and non-allergenic. Our service is personal.

Do not let your leather or suede garments become oversoiled. Heavily ingrained dirt can cause permanent damage.

We also clean and reglaze leather boots to restore original lustre.

Unwelcome Intrusion.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mrs. Marianne Rees' letter of November 16 regarding the Township Zoning Board's decision on the "Bovino Property" is another example of outsiders who insist on making policy for those of us who reside in that area.

I resent her blatant suggestion that profit from increasing property values and personal friendship with Mr. Stonaker were the prime reasons for supporting a favorable decision by the board. As stated at that meeting, we are tired of absentee property owners who have no regard or concern for those of us who live here, and do not keep their properties in acceptable condition. That particular property and the buildings on it are a disgrace. Right now, it is a semi-shelter for drug use.

During the "Bovino - Stonaker" hearing several Zoning Board members noted the seriousness of making decisions on property in an area where none of them reside. This awareness was appreciated. Mrs. Rees and others who voiced disapproval attempted to speak without giving their place of residence. When requested to do so it was brought forth that almost all who opposed approval by the board were not area residents.

In another recent decision by the Zoning Board involving the Birch Avenue area, a business firm was allowed to expand on to residential property. They were also granted other variances. Mrs. Rees and others supposedly concerned with maintaining the character of our neighborhood were not in attendance. Perhaps "who" is involved dictates when to attend.

There are many "official groups" who seem to believe they are official spokesman for those of us who reside in the John - Witherspoon - Birch area. Most members of these organizations don't have the vaguest idea what is happening here. Some of them need a map to get here.

In the future, Mrs. Rees and others should rest assured that we will be quite informed on any events affecting our homes and daily life. If a profit is forthcoming, so be it, we are entitled to same, as not all of us choose to live in "the woods off Bunn Drive".

A Review Worth Ignoring.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing with some considerable degree of indignation about your reviewer's criticism of the Princeton Community Players' production of "The Prime Of Miss Jean Brodie."

How glad I am that I chose to ignore your acid review and attended the play this weekend. I have long been an admirer of Diana Crane as an actress. Her performance as Jean Brodie was nothing less than magnificent. She had me and those around me completely spellbound.

This lady has such a wide range of ability. Many is the time she has relieved the humdrum singing at the Inn Cabaret with her brilliantly executed sketches and her unique style of humor. As Jean Brodie she is rivalled by no one. Can your reviewer have been objective?

I am truly sorry for those citizens of Princeton who may

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

LUCKY parents of CP students received a bonus with a recent school bulletin: a short article entitled "Children and Television – a Few Thoughts" by Eliot A. Daley, a CP parent, formerly a writer and executive of "Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood." From the opening sentence, "It sure isn't easy to run a household with both a child and a TV set," to the final closing moments, "They (the children) may find real life more addicting even than TV!" Mr. Daley briefly covers many facets of how and why many of us spend so many hours in front of the 'tube'.

So that other parents may share this insight, CP will give copies to anyone who will drop by the school office (Witherspoon Street at Community Park) or send a self - addressed stamped envelope to the school, noting their request.

Other suggested reading for parents might include "How to Help Your Kids in School" in the November 1977 issue of Better Homes and Gardens. A note of warning – it stresses parent involvement!

THE LIBRARY Media Council, formed by students of JW under the direction of the school's Library Media specialist, Eudora Wright, has a membership of 33 students, representing various houses. You can find them busily at work in the school library, assisting with circulating and maintaining the varied amounts of reading material. After a one - month period of intensive orientation and training, the budding librarians are now capable, under supervision, of circulating and shelving books and audio - visuals as well as mending books and magazines. Many students type and file cards and read shelves to make sure books are in their proper places. This frees the librarian to work with students on research projects and book selection, and to assist teachers in choosing materials for classroom activities.

Overdue books are almost non - existent at JW as a result of the Library Council's constant check with borrowers Every book checked out in September has been returned!

STUDENT school government has been formed at JW; it will act as the principal's cabinet. Mr. Johnson plans to work closely with the newly elected cabinet of advisors during the academic year. Both he and the student council representatives who form the cabinet are laying the groundwork for organizing a science fair, talent fair, chess tournament, and lunchtime bridge group. The students plan to review the student handbook and make suggestions for changes in the '78 edition; they are presently deciding on a school logo or symbol that will be awarded to deserving students in the various fairs and competitions throughout the year

CONGRATULATIONS to Leona Medvin, LB teacher, who won a three - year term on Borough Council in the recent elections, and to Eleanore Yuchmow, RS teacher, who has been selected Vice - president and program chairman for the Trenton area chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, an educational fraternity. Jean McDonough, VR Library Services, is chairperson of the Advisory Associates for the Graduate School of Library Services, Rutgers. Princeton staff members are busy, active people!

WEDNESDAY: the first quarter of the school year has seen elementary school teachers concentrate on reading; middle and high school faculty worked on curriculum and preparation for PHS evaluation. On Wednesday, November 30, the K-8 staff will participate in Affirmative Action Workshops: Women on Words and Images (WOWI) will present "Sex Role Socialization and the Schools" at CP for elementary teachers while B'nai B'rith's Anti - Defamation League will deal with adolescent prejudice at a JW middle school meeting. Both programs begin at 1:30, and although both are geared toward the teaching staff in the schools, the presentations will be open to parents and the community - at - large.

BRIC A BRAC isn't just what you may discover in the dictionary. For Princeton it's the Bond Referendum Information Committee and the Advisory Coimmittee that preceded it; all the members are anxious to inform everyone about the upcoming vote – Tuesday, December 13 – for funds to renovate PHS. If you want to hear more or see more (since a picture is worth a thousand words), come to the PHS cafeteria on Wednesday evening, November 30, at 8:00 p.m. for a tour, pictures, and a chance to ask any questions you may have This open house is the second of a series sponsored by the PTO to show Princeton parents and the community the proposed plans have been discouraged from attending this production by your unwarranted review.

GEORGE WILSON
Princeton

Review Was "Disturbing."
To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the November 9 issue of TOWN TOPICS, there was a most critical review of the Princeton Community Player's production of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brody." Knowing the exceptional talent and ability of most of the players, especially Ms. Diana Crane, I was surprised and disturbed by your critic's evaluation. This, however, did not prevent me from attending the performance which I thoroughly enjoyed, but it saddens me to think that perhaps the article may have disuaded others.

I would like to suggest more support for community groups such as the Players who are so willing to devote many hours and much talent to the public.

The performance of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brody" deserves applause and I encourage everyone who is fortunate to live in this area to attend future performances by the Players – they will not be disappointed.

Corrections Offered.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your November 16 article on housing needs in Princeton was informative and factual. However, there were two statements pertaining to Housing Authority policy which were inaccurate and should be made clear.

1. The present applications in our files, both for elderly and family housing, apply only to our existing Borough Housing units. When we have applications ready for the Township housing, (not "Yedlin" housing!) probably by the first of the year, we will notify the public and all who have indicated interest. In the tenant selection which will take place, Township residents will be given first priority as far as feasible.

2. I do not make the decisions regarding tenant selection. There is a duly appointed tenant selection committee composed of three members of the Board of Commissioners of the Housing Authority. When there is a vacancy, a selection meeting is called, and I inform the committee what type of vacancy is available.

They make their decisions based on the guidelines of the Statement of Occupancy policy of the Housing Authority, which include eligibility criteria, family size, length of waiting time, the need for housing, and consideration of factors which may reasonably affect the tenant and neighborhood environment. This policy is available to be read at the Housing Authority office.

Thank you for the opportunity to clarify our policies.

paign for the Princeton area, I am happy to announce the six participating Princeton schools raised a total of $2057.11 to help UNICEF's work in over 100 countries. This outstanding contribution could never have been accomplished without the help of your newspaper.

This money is precious to the enrichment of the lives of thousands of underprivileged children. Thank you very much for helping to strive for UNICEF's goal.

Refutation Refuted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

You published a letter in TOWN TOPICS of November 16, under the title "Letter on Schools Refuted." The signature on the letter was that of William K. Evans, Secretary of the Board of the Princeton Regional Schools.

The contents of his letter do not support the title. His letter refutes nothing. The procedure outlined in his letter may be the procedure which should be followed. What actually is done bears little if any relation to it.

Mr. Evans attempts to differentiate the small management group, of which he is a member, from the larger management group called administrators. However, the results of so-called bargaining by the administrators' union automatically are reflected to Mr. Evans's own pay and fringe benefits as well as to others. They go up together.

The real situation has been so rigged in recent years that it now represents almost total bias on one side only--that of employees and the labor unions. The Board may not know it, but it has been slickly boxed out so far as representation of the community and taxpayers is concerned.

Princeton Regional Schools, in comparison with other school districts in Mercer County, are far out of line with unjustifiable expenditures on the high side. Over 80 percent of the budget now goes for salaries and perquisites. There appears to be an almost sadistic passion to squander money, and without the slightest regard for value received or results.

I appreciated the opportunities to sharpen my insight as to the real situation, which were opened to me by service on the T. & E. Committee.

DASHER OUTCLASSES MERCEDES 280E AND ROLLS-ROYCE IN SURPRISING WAYS.

We thought that headline might grab you. Interestingly enough, it's true.

The Dasher Sedans are our most sumptuous cars; they outclass some very classy machines in some very surprising ways.

If you own a Mercedes-Benz 280E, you'll be depressed to discover that the Dasher 2-door Sedan with standard transmission not only goes from 0 to 50 miles per hour quicker than the Mercedes,* but carries more in its trunk.

If you're about to spring for a Rolls-Royce, hold the phone. The Dasher holds more in its trunk than the Rolls, too.

*With automatic transmission

Fine as they may be, neither the Mercedes nor the Rolls has front-wheel drive. The Dasher does, and it makes all the difference in poor driving conditions.

The Mercedes, the Rolls and the Dasher do have their similarities.

All 3 have dignified interiors, with handsome, thoughtful appointments like reclining bucket seats, remote control outside mirrors and quartz electric clocks.

But only the Dasher has a Ⓦ right there up front.

Robin L. Wallack, 29 Hamilton Avenue, has been appointed assistant to Newell Brown, to Director of Career Services, at Princeton University. The career services office helps undergraduates decide where to go after college, and offers advice on how to get their Vocational counselling, a recruitment program and panels on various careers are all part of the service.

A graduate of Bard College, Ms. Wallack has been a recruiter for New Jersey Bell Telephone and has also taught art in private classes for children. She is a member of the Princeton Regional Board of Education. Her husband, Alan, is a partner in the law firm of Lefkowitz, O'Hara and Wallack.

Arthur S. Lane, of Harbourton, a former U.S. District Judge, has been elected chairman of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency's Board of Directors. A graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Law School, Judge Lane joined NCCD in 1960 and served as chairman of the Board's Executive Committee for the past three years.

Following his stint as commanding officer in the U.S. Navy during World War II, he was prosecutor and then judge in Mercer County. He was appointed to the U.S. District Court for the district of New Jersey in 1960 and served seven years.

Judge Lane was vice-president and general counsel for Johnson & Johnson in New Brunswick, New Jersey until 1976, when he joined the law firm of Smith, Stratton, Wise and Heher in Princeton.

The appointment of J. Anderson Brown, Jr., 2 Dickenson Street, as dean of student affairs at Princeton University was announced this week by President William G. Bowen.

In announcing the appointment, President Bowen said: "In serving as acting dean, Andy has been extremely successful in earning the respect of faculty, students, staff members and administrators. He knows Princeton well, he is a warm and sensitive person, and I am confident that he will provide excellent leadership in this important position."

Mr. Brown was named acting dean of student affairs in March, 1977, when his predecessor, Adele Simmons, was elected to the presidency of Hampshire College in Amherst, Massachusetts. He was chosen from among 350 applicants for the position.

As a Princeton undergraduate (1965-1969) Mr. Brown studied engineering and sociology. He graduated cum laude with a B.S.E. degree.

He spent six years teaching elementary and secondary school in Massachusetts following his graduation from Princeton. He received his Ed.M. degree from Harvard's Graduate School of Education in 1971 and a Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in 1976.

Four-Day Drive to Seek Commitments for Space In Borough Parking Garage Nets 637 Signatures

"We've shown Borough Council the parking garage won't be a white elephant!" said Ralph Hulit Jr., exultantly, as he reported the results of a four-day drive to get non-binding commitments from merchants to lease garage space.

It was Friday when Mr. Hulit spoke, and he and Jack Yeoman had slightly more than 600 signatures. By the end of the day Monday, the tally was 637. Mr. Yeoman's goal had been 600. A municipal parking garage would probably have around 800 spaces.

Merchants throughout the Central Business District (CBD) from Moore Street to west of 20 Nassau and tributary side streets, were asked to sign non-binding, long-term leases for around $35 per month per space.

If that fee maintains and all commitments are kept, the parking garage would have a guaranteed $22,295 a month, or $267,540 income per year from the all-day parking of merchants and their employees.

"Sensational -- a fantastic job!" exclaimed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, who was there when Mr. Hulit and Mr. Yeoman reported their tally. "It indicates a tremendous increase in the enthusiasm and cooperation of the downtown community."

Meeting Tuesday Night. Next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall, the mayor's parking committee will meet. A permanent advisory committee on parking will be named, to include people in the business community, members of Borough government and ordinary citizens with no financial stake in a garage or a business.

In January, the mayor said on Monday, Council may introduce a bond ordinance to get the garage going, and select a design team. Conferences with the public library's architect still must be held to determine the best design for a garage on the library's lot.

The four-day survey was done by Chamber of Commerce members on Mayor Cawley's parking committee. They are John F. Hoff, Leonard LaPlaca, Burt Sussman, Al Toto Jr., William Walker and Mr. Hulit and Mr. Yeoman.

"These non-binding commitments go to the heart of our concern about the possibility of liability and a burden on the taxpayer," Mayor Cawley says, but he added, "There is no question that fewer parking tickets will affect our municipal budget!"

"Getting a parking ticket is the number one complaint from customers," Mr. Hulit said gloomily.

NEW LOCATION

For Typesetting Firm. Optima Typesetting, formerly of Lawrenceville, has moved to 77 Main Street, above Owen's Antiques, in Kingston.

"Kingston is ideally suited to our customers demands," says Linda Reed, who has been a partner in Optima since its inception in July 1976. "With clients from the entire New Brunswick - Princeton - Trenton area, we are now more conveniently located, and better equipped to service these areas with daily pick - ups and deliveries."

Optima has two IBM "ESC" composers, and an Itek Quadritek 1200, a new phototypesetter. "Business is booming," notes Cree McDougal, who recently became an Optima partner. "With the addition of the phototypesetter, we are now able to offer complete typesetting services, in addition to layout, paste - up and design services, to those customers we were only partially able to service previously."

For further information, estimates and typesetting advice, customers may call 921 - 0895.

WE HAVE MOVED: Linda Reed (seated), and Cree McDougal, partners in Optima Typesetting, have moved their operation to 77 Main Street, Kingston.

EARNINGS RISE

At Applied Data Research. Applied Data Research has reported record operating revenues and earnings for the nine-month period ending September 30.

John R. Bennett, president, reported that revenues were up 32 percent to a record level of $14.8 million as compared to $11.2 million in 1976. Earnings before income taxes were up 52 percent to a record level of $1,962,176 as compared to $1,291,916 the previous year. Net earnings in 1977 were $1,157,176 as compared to $1,136,916 in 1976.

However, 1976 earnings include the benefit of a tax loss carry forward of $384,000 and investment tax credits of $120,000. Mr. Bennett said the results are "substantially on target with our predictions for the year of $20 million in operating revenues and $1.5 million in net earnings or $1.15 per share."

COMPANY ACQUIRED

By AMF. AMF Incorporated, a worldwide producer of leisure time and industrial products, has announced the acquisition of Maark Corporation of Plainsboro, a manufacturer of metal tennis rackets.

In announcing the acquisition, AMF said that it has exchanged 599,000 shares of common stock for the assets and certain assumed liabilities of Maark.

REVENUES AT RECORD

But Mathematica Net is Down. Mathematica, Inc. technical consulting, policy research, computer software and system design firm, has reported record revenues but lower earnings for the quarter ended September 30, Dr. Tibor Fabian, president, has announced that per share earnings for the first quarter are 15 cents against 20 cents in last year's first quarter. Record first quarter revenues were $5,429,000, compared with $5,096,400 a year earlier.

David E. O'Connor

Dr. Fabian noted, however, that "Mathematica expects once again earnings and revenues for the fiscal year to exceed those of previous years." For the year ended June 30, 1977, the company reported earnings of $688,000 or 98 cents per share on revenues of $22.7 million.

Dr. Fabian attributed the first quarter earnings decline to "an unusual amount of proposal writing and lower proportion of billable time than planned at a subsidiary. The company expects that these factors will be offset by new projects and increased billable time in later quarters."

PERSONNEL NOTES

Dr. David E. O'Connor, Euclid Avenue, Belle Mead, has been appointed head of the solid state device technology research group at RCA Laboratories.

A native of Duluth, Minn., Dr. O'Connor attended the University of Minnesota, wherer he received a B.A. degree in physics in 1961, an M.S.E.E. degree in 1970, and a Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering in 1973 as a NASA fellow for doctoral studies. He joined RCA Laboratories in 1973 as a member of the technical staff, working on advanced CMOS process development, and has been actively involved in the acceptance testing of both RCA's first high current ion implanter aod RCA's first electron beam mask exposure system.

Houghton Real Estate, 8 Palmer Square East, has announced that Ms. Miriam Houghton has joined the firm as a sales representative. She is a life-long resident of this area.

Ms. Houghton has been active in the Red Cross Motor Service, The Dogwood Garden Club and Springdale Golf Club. She comes to the real estate profession with a background and knowledge in landscape and creative design.

Joyce A. Fitzpatrick of Plainsboro has joined Mort Barish Associates, Research Park, as assistant art director as part of the agency's current expansion program.

Miss Fitzpatrick comes to the Princeton advertising agency from Dow Jones & Co. where she created the drawings on page one of the Wall Street Journal. In addition, she designed book jackets for the Dow Jones Book Division and did layout design and mechanical art for ads, brochures and other promotional work.

Community Thanksgiving Service in Chapel; Many Churches Planning to Observe the Day

The annual Community Thanksgiving Service will be held Thursday at 11 in the Princeton University Chapel. Rabbi Melvin J. Glatt, of the Princeton Jewish Center, president of the Princeton Pastors' Association, will be the speaker.

Clergy and lay persons from Princeton churches will conduct the service. A group from the Princeton Ballet Society, Linda Shapiro, choreographer, will perform a dance in thanksgiving and celebration for the gift of life. The choir will be comprised of members from the First Baptist Church, Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church and the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

The offering will be shared by the Chaplaincy Committee of the Princeton Medical Center and DROP appeal for World Hunger.

Special services have also been planned by Princeton area churches in observance of Thanksgiving this week.

Holy Eucharist will be celebrated Wednesday, Thanksgiving Eve, at 8 in All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road. Dr. Lee H. Bristol, lay reader, author, composer, chairman of the music committee of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church and former president of Westminster Choir College, will address the congregation.

Windsor Chapel will hold its second annual Thanksgiving Service Wednesday at 7:30 at Maurice Hawk School in West Windsor. Pastor David Morgan will deliver a short message. The public is invited to participate in hymn singing and giving thanks.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church on Hightstown Road will hold a Thanksgiving Eve Service Wednesday at 7:30. The Rev. Daniel England, pastor of the Princeton Baptist Church of Penns Neck, will preach the sermon, and the Rev. Frederick Schott, pastor of the Lutheran Church, will lead the litany. The adult choir, under the direction of Martha Laverty, will sing a number of Thanksgiving selections.

As is the custom, the offering will go to the Princeton Medical Center Chaplaincy Fund. For information call 799-1753 or 799-1783.

The traditional community Thanksgiving service at the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro will take place at 8:30 Thursday morning. The Rev. Lloyd Alamsha, interim minister, will give the sermon. The community is invited.

Thanksgiving Day service is a traditional annual worship occasion in branches of The Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist. The service in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 16 Bayard Lane, will be held Thursday at 11.

The service will include reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States and a Bible lesson - sermon on the subject of thanksgiving. No collection will be taken, and everyone is welcome. Anthony W.R. Coomber, First Reader, and Mrs. Jeanne M. Miller, Second Reader, will conduct the service, which will include testimonies of gratitude by church members.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHORUS TO SELL CARDS Which They Have Made. Boys and girls in the Trinity Church Choir are selling Christmas cards to raise funds for a projected two week trip to England in the summer of 1979.

Some 35 choristers, including singing boys, novices and probationers, have met twice a week all fall to print the cards in a project organized by Ann Suter, mother of three young singers. Two cards are available, one a festive horn of Yule designed by Princeton graphic artist Susan Hockaday, the other adapted from a medieval woodcut of the Annunciation. Both cards come in two forms, one with a Christmas greeting inside and the other plain, suitable for adding one's own greeting or for writing thank you notes.

The cards are plastic wrapped in packs of 10 for $2.50 a pack. They may be ordered from the church office, 924-2277. James Litton is director of the choir; Joan and John Fleming have also assisted in the card making and selling project.

BOYS CHORUS HERE For Concert Sunday. Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church is sponsoring the Newark Boys' Chorus in concert on Sunday at 4 in Alexander Hall on the University campus. Tickets are $7 for general admission and $10 for reserved seats.

The church, which is the oldest black church in Princeton, will celebrate its 145th anniversary in 1978 and plans to hold a mortgage burning on May 7. Proceeds from the concert will go toward paying off the mortgage which was for some renovations to the church.

The Newark Boys Chorus has performed with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New Jersey Symphony and the Atlanta Symphony. It consists of 32 boys from age 9 to 14 in the concert chorus, with another 28 in the training chorus. The boys attend a private school established just for members of the chorus, and all are on full scholarship.

Tickets are available at the University Store and at Lamplighters Book Store on Palmer Square, as well as from Mrs. Charlotte Gipson, 10 MacLean Street, or Mrs. Johnnie Scott, 394-7472, in Trenton.

University Chapel on TV

The Princeton University Chapel is featured in a film to be telecast on NBC-TV (Channels 3 and 4) on Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

The 10-minute segment on the chapel will be seen in the series on religion entitled "The First Estate: Religion in Review." In the film, Dean of the Chapel Ernest Gordon describes the stained-glass windows and discusses the carvings and the architectural design of the building.

A repeat bruadcast of the film will follnw the Sunday Night Film Festival

NOTICE

In compliance with a ruling of the State Supreme Court, all newspapers must ascertain that employment ads do not discriminate between sexes.

For example, titles such as "Salesman," "Nurse" and "Girl Friday" should be replaced, respectively, by "Salesperson," "Nurse (M/W)" and "General Office Work M/W". TOWN TOPICS has a copy of the Division of Civil Rights booklet, "A Guide for Employers to the New Jersey Law against Discrimination," and will provide assistance in the wording of all such ads upon request. Advertisers' cooperation is sought in meeting the requirements of the law.

THE FIREPLACES HAVE IT!

and we have them! Four of them! A "walk-in" in the dining room, formal one in the living room, a boudoir one in one of the five bedrooms, and a "chestnut roasting" one in the large country kitchen. The family room is rustic post and beams with a fantastic view. Surrounding this beautifully restored early farmhouse and 3 box stall barn are towering trees and luscious shrubs. And there's a pond for the critters. $118,500

THE COUNTRY LIFE BECKENS YOU to this commanding colonial set on a private acre in the Montgomery wilds. The large entry foyer to either the formal living room on your left or the family room on your right. Both are huge but cozy on a winters eve with fireplaces of their own. Olympic-sized kitchen serves a politicians family or the gourmet cook. An elegant dining room with French doors to the patio completes the main floor. Upstairs to the 3 childrens bedrooms with bath, plenty of closets and storage for all toys, books or hobbies. The master suite has 2 walk-in closets and its own full bath and a room over the garage awaits completion just off the master bedroom. A full attic rests beneath the slate roof. Outside is a covered porch along with a large brick patio, planted garden and completely landscaped. An unbelievable bargain at $149,500

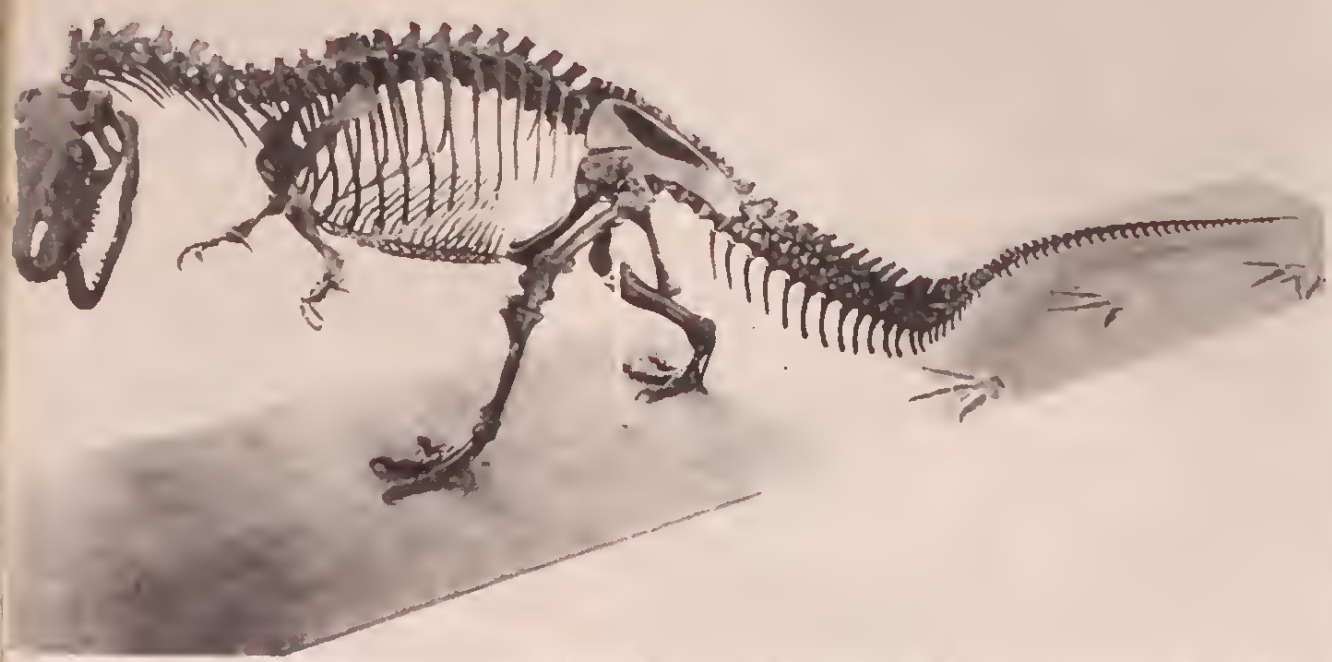
Guyot Hall Museum, Visited by Thousands of School Children, May Become as Extinct as the Prehistoric Animals It Houses



AN OLD FRIEND: Antrodemus, a native of Utah and resident there for some 140 million years, has been in the Guyot Hall natural history museum since 1961. He was unearthed by a Princeton University team around 1941. A lot of him is the real bones, but the head has been constructed of light-weight plastic foam for easier mounting. The true head, now in the University archives, weighed so much that a special support would have been necessary. Antrodemus' future, and that of his museum colleagues, is currently in doubt as the University ponders the problem of short space in the geology library. Incidentally dinosaurs' names aren't quite as firmly established as humans'; and Antrodemus is known as Allosaurus at Yale.

Rainy Sunday afternoons will be the worst. That's when generations of desperate Princeton parents have bundled the kids to Guyot Hall on Washington Road to say "Hi!" to the sabre-tooth tiger, ask why the dinosaur died and get an early lesson in French when they learn that it's "Ghee-o" Hall and not "Ghee-ott."

The Guyot Hall museum may soon be as extinct as its exhibits. Library space for Princeton University's Department of Geology is so tight that only 32,688 volumes of the 55,500-volume collection are in the departmental library in Guyot. The rest are all the way out on the Route One Forrestal campus.

Space in Guyot itself hardly exists. Glenn Odel, science and technology librarian, points out that stacks are so narrow students can't walk through them and so high students can't reach the books.

And right there, tantalizingly close, is all that big, lovely space around the dinosaur. What price the splendid antler spread of the Irish elk if you have to go out to Forrestal for a book?

Three Possible Solutions. Three options exist: build a new library building, use space inside Guyot or put together a combination.

The combination idea, according to Prof. Sheldon Judson, head of the geology department, seems the most reasonable.

"You could use the main hall--where the museum is--as a unit and add more out back. The cost differential between this and building an entire new building is about $500,000 to $700,000."

But it's not a simple solution.

The museum is more than a rainy-day baby-sitter. Dr. Judson and Donald Baird, curator and director of the museum, estimate that more than 2,000 school children visit Guyot Hall each year. What they have seen there, has turned many of them to the study of geology, paleontology or--and here another aspect of the problem emerges--biology.

The biology department at Princeton shares Guyot with the geologists, and the biologists aren't happy about losing any of the natural history museum, which has displays related to biology as well as paleontology and geology.

Last spring, the biology department passed a resolution expressing its dismay "at even the thought of losing all or part of the natural history museum, and we strongly urge that other compromise solutions to spatial needs of the geology library be given the highest possible priority. We also urge that the museum be given a very high value as an academic and cultural resource for both the University and the surrounding communities."

"A Tragic Decision." Henry Horn, on the biology faculty, says that a large part of his initial interest in biology came from what he saw in museums.

"The public exhibition," he has said, "represents the best museum I've ever seen in that amount of space. I think it would be tragic and quite shortsighted to just let the thing go."

Where could it go?

Once, in Princeton, there was a Junior Museum in the attic of the old Borough Hall. If there were one now, points out Dr. Judson, who was involved with the former one, maybe it could absorb at least some of the smaller exhibits.

But there is that dinosaur, and you don't put Antrodemus just anywhere.

Sites Suggested. The old Miss Fine's School gym behind Borough Hall? The old Princeton Country Day School gym, now University-owned, on Broadmead? Dr. Judson names these, then adds the atrium in John Witherspoon School and as a desperate after-thought, Palmer Stadium.

"But who the hell's going to run it and support it?" he asks, "the museum has no endowment. We need an organization, a 'Friends of the Guyot Hall Museum' to take it over."

The University has written to Princeton's public schools but the last thing any school board wants is a dinosaur dumped on its lap.

Dr. Judson smiles when he recalls his days as a graduate student in geology at Princeton.

"I remember that in my generals, there was a final exam question--'what would you do with the museum in Guyot Hall'? I think I probably answered something like 'make it more accessible,' or some such."

It's possible that the museum could be distributed here and there, breaking up the family so to speak. Lots of museums would like the dinosaur, Dr. Judson believes.

Dispalced Sloth. As a matter of fact, old-timers may recall Guyot Hall's giant ground sloth, even bigger than today's dinosaur, that used to stand guard over the cave bear and the sabre-tooth tiger and the Irish elk.

Let's Use Our Sunlight Better!
Today people are trying to conserve energy and, wherever possible, to use natural resources. Wasco Skywindows are right in step. Since they are aimed at the source of natural light, they are 5 times more effective than wall windows. In a room with Skywindows you will not need to turn on electric lights as often. If you are building a house or adding a new room you will need fewer wall windows, which really saves on heat. So use our sunlight better... after all, it's free

News Of The THEATRES

3 BY THORNTON WILDER

For McCarter in December. McCarter will welcome December with the opening on Thursday, December 1, at 7:30 of "3 by Thornton Wilder," in a production directed by Michael Kahn.

Three one-act plays have been assembled by the Pulitzer Prize winner into a full theatrical evening. The plays are "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden," in which a family makes an automobile jaunt to visit an older daughter; "Queens of France," about a charlatan and "The Long Christmas Dinner," in which Wilder uses the device of an endless dinner to recount the history of a large family.

Several of the actors cast by Mr. Kahn for roles — and for more than one role, in many instances — have appeared at McCarter before and will be familiar to audiences.

Alice Drummond will play three roles — Ma Kirby in "The Happy Journey," Mme. Peugeot in "Queens of France," and Ermengarde in "The Long Christmas Dinner." She has appeared in the McCarter productions of "The Entertainer" and "The Sea Gull."

Nicholas Kepros, who will play M. Cahusac in "Queens of France," and Charles in "The Long Christmas Dinner," appeared at McCarter last season in "The Physicists," and previously played the part of Aegon in "Agamemnon," as well as the roles of Macbeth, Prospero and Arnolphe (in Moliere's "School for Wives").

Audiences will also remember Princeton resident Karl Light — who plays Pa Kirby in "The Happy Journey," and Roderick in "The Long Christmas Dinner" — from his appearances at McCarter in "A Grave Undertaking" and "The Sea Gull," and from his work in countless other local productions.

James Noble, who plays the Stage Manager in "The Happy Journey" and Cousin Brandon in "The Long Christmas Dinner," last appeared at McCarter in "The Physicists," and before that in "Long Day's Journey Into Night." Carolyin Coates, who is married to Mr. Noble, will appear in "3 by Thornton Wilder" as Mlle. Pointevin in "Queens of France," and as Lucia in "The Long Christmas Dinner."

Jobeth Williams will play Beulah in "The Happy Journey," and Leonora in "The Long Christmas Dinner." She last appeared in D. H. Lawrence's "The Daughter - in - Law" at McCarter and won the New Jersey Drama

FROM BALI: The expressive hands, fluid gestures and dazzling costumes of Balinese dancers will catch the spotlight at McCarter December 12 when the 50 dancers and musicians constituting the Dancers of Bali troupe appear on stage. The dancers will perform both modern themes, and traditional dances in which they act out the ancient stories of Far Eastern mythology.

FROM BALI....

To Princeton. They've been here before, the Dancers and Musicians of Bali who will perform on McCarter's stage Monday, December 12 at 8 p.m. The dancers were last in Princeton in 1973, and have included Princeton in the present North American tour.

The dancers and musicians, from the Balinese village of Sabatu, have been preparing a new program over the last three years. Although the dances will be based on the ancient ritual dances of the Balinese culture, the dancers and musicians are said to be so creative that new dances can be formed which combine freshness with the tradition of the ritual.

For centuries, Batinese performed only in their own country because their art was an integral part of the lives of the people and their religious celebrations. In 1931, however, they traveled to Paris, making their western debut.

The troupe came to New York some 25 years ago and audiences, expecting primitive, tribal stridency, were astonished at the sophistication and shimmering opulence of the Balinese spectacle.

FROM SPAIN

Civil War Film. Death, hallucination, grotesqueries, the confrontation of innocence with violence — all part of the Spanish tradition, are all interwoven in "The Spirit of the Beehive," a film from the Spanish director Victor Erice which will be shown next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 29 and 30, at 7 and 8:45 p.m. at McCosh 10 on the University campus.

The film is the next in the Movies - at - McCarter series. Tickets are available on the day of the showing at the McCarter box - office or at McCosh 10 an hour before screening.

The film takes place immediately after the Spanish Civil War. In a remote town in Castile inhabited only by children and old women, two small girls act out what may be the collective Spanish death - wish. They play in such dangerous places as on the railroad tracks or close to bonfires. Ana Torrent, who played Geraldine Chaplin's daughter in "Cria," is one of the little girls.

Difficult Performance on Clavichord Given Delicate Touch in Concert by Joan Benson

A clavichord concert is almost a self - contradiction, the volume of the instrument being less appropriate for a concert hall than at most for a space the size of a large living room. Joan Benson, touring artist and a member of the music faculty at the University of Oregon, showed Friday at a concert sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton and the Princeton University Music Department in the Woolworth Center that it could be done.

The problem is the clavichord's inherently limited sound - producing capability, which has always cast it in the role of a personal rather than a public instrument. Such a character arose as well from its mechanism, which in the pre-piano era was the only alternative to the harpsichord to allow some degree of volume control and even a bit of vibrato, and thereby more possibility of expression in performance.

A special audience is even required to stage a successful clavichord concert, since the normal rustling and coughing would be impossibly distracting. The listeners at this event clearly accepted the need for immobility, and the result was a perfect setting: a moderately - sized hall, an expressive artist, and a receptive and cooperative audience.

Ms. Benson's concert covered the period from roughly the middle of the 15th century to Haydn's and Mozart's time, beginning with an anonymous Preambulum from the Buxheimer Orgelbuch. This short piece served mainly to set the atmosphere for the concert and to accustom the ears to the unusual volume level that was to typify the evening's program. Following this were three Versi by G. M. Trabaci, a Coranto by Jacub Polak, and a Villanella by Wojciech-dlugoraj, all late 16th to early 17th century composers. These were pieces of differing characters, Trabaci's being the most sober, with a descending chromatic bass line, and Polak's displaying a lilting, Sicilian - style dotted rhythm.

MUSIC In Princeton

A Delicate Touch. Next came a Partita sopra l'Aria della Folia da Espagna by Pasquini, who lived mainly in the 17th century. This was a set of variations and elaborations over a short repeating bass pattern, the Folia da Espagna, which is one of a number of standard bass patterns that were commonly treated in such a fashion in those days.

During all these pieces, Ms. Benson performed with delicacy and intimacy. At times one could not even hear a note's attack, but simply sensed the pitch materializing from nowhere. It was something of a strain to hear these feathers of sound, an inevitable situation under the circumstances, yet worthwhile nonetheless.

The program continued with Froberger's Tombeau fait a Paris sur la mort de M. Blancheroche, a funereal lament in a rhythmically free style, as Ms. Benson explained. The music, fusing bitterness and tenderness, culminated in a series of hammerstrokes on the dominant in the bass register, analogous to an organ pedal - point, before coming to its final cadence. The first half of the program concluded with a minuet - like Moderato by Haydn.

After intermission there came a tender Adagio by Mozart and the high point of the program, the last of the six "Probestuecke" Sonatas by C. P. E. Bach, from his treatise on keyboard playing. Mozart and Haydn both owned clavichords, as Ms. Benson pointed out during one of several short informative commentaries she gave. But of all the older composers known today to any degree, C.P.E. Bach is the one most closely associated with the clavichord, on which he frequently improvised and performed.

The first movement was the most overtly expressive, with the loudest sounds and the fastest pace. The second movement was a quiet aria, while the last was a fantasia of great breadth, probably imaginable as an independent piece by itself. Here Ms. Benson played with intensity, stormy or brooding as required, with an appropriately improvisatory manner. As an encore, she performed a syncopated depiction of Vatican church bells by the early classical Viennese composer Wagenseil.

The most intriguing aspect of the concert was the exploration of a part of the musical dynamic range which too often may not be heard at all in a normal concert. Ms. Benson's gossamer touch showed that the dynamic "pianissimo" alone can cover an unexpectedly wide range of volume. While in the louder sections the inherent mechanical noise actually approached the volume of the music, the softer parts constituted a demonstration of unusual expressive possibilities that one rarely has the opportunity to hear.

in the 1965 European tour. He has studied voice with Frederick Wilkerson and John Bullock, coached operatic roles with Boris Goldovsky and was accepted for study by Rosa Ponselle.

Winner of a number of opera auditions and international competitions, Mr. Parker studied in Paris with Pierre Bernac and then began to appear in concert, recital and opera in a number of European musical capitals, including leading roles with the Vienna Volksoper. In America he has performed with the Boston Opera, the Santa Fe Opera, the Spring Opera Theater of San Francisco and the Opera Society of Washington.

Two summers ago he conducted a lecture-demonstration of the song cycle at Westminster Choir College's annual art-song festival. He was invited to conduct the seminar along with lieder singers Hans Hotter and Gerard Souzay, artists many years his senior.

Tickets are available at the McCarter theatre box office, and student tickets may be purchased the day of the concert for $2.50.

FREE CONCERTS TO GO?

Fate in Doubt. A new copyright law may mean a sudden increase in the volume of ancient music performed at free concerts in Princeton.

On January 1, a new law goes into effect removing the royalty exemptions for non-profit organizations that give free concerts. As it is now, sponsors of free concerts never have had to pay ASCAP (the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers) or Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI). Royalties do, however, have to be paid if admission is charged

For example, the Princeton University Concerts pay royalties according to the number of seats in the house: $75 for the season, plus $41 for each composition if the house is McCarter, and $22 each if the concert is in McCosh.

Checks have recently gone out for performances of a Bartok Quartet and a Stravinsky work.

Thomas Wright, Princeton University counsel, says it's inevitable that some kind of composers' fees will have to be paid.

"We don't know the specifics because negotiations are proceeding on a nationwide basis with ASCAP and BMI," Mr. Wright said.

He explained that under the present law, copyrights are valid for 28 years, with renewals possible for another 28. Under the new law, copyrights will last for the life of the composer plus 50 years.

"It's very good, for composers," observed Maida Pollock, who runs the University Concerts.

Free concerts by the Friends of Music at Princeton often feature the compositions of young composers as well as performances by young musicians. In December, just in time to take advantage of the expiring old law, the Princeton University Orchestra will play Stravinsky's Symphony for Wind Instruments.

WORKS SELECTED

For Competition Repertoire. Fourteen works by nine composers from Princeton University's music department have been selected to be among the 49 compositions for piano played at the first International Competition for Excellence in the Performance of American Music. The competition, co-sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation will be held at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Successive yearly competitions will be for instrumentalists and singers and are intended to stimulate greater interest on the part of performers, teachers and students in the large body of recital music written by American composers since 1900. Open to pianists of both sexes of any age or nationality, the competition offers a $10,000 first prize, a concert tour, recitals and recording contract.

Representing Princeton's music department are Roger Sessions, Conant professor of music emeritus; Milton Babbitt, current Conant professor of music, Paul Lansky, Ph. D. 1970 and associate professor; Carlton Gamer, former visiting fellow and lecturer; Donald Martino, MFA in music in 1954 and former faculty member; Thomas James, class of 1959; David del Wredici, MFA 1964; George Edwards, MFA 1967 and Robert Pollock, MFA 1970.

Garden Gifts for the Home

Houseplants and Hanging Baskets bring life into the house when all is sere and brown outside and add their own special personality to table top, shelf, windows, corners.

Ambleside has a polished collection of unusual plants in one of a kind planters, cache pots, macrame and baskety hangers. An impressive collection of glazed flowered Italian pottery is attractively priced at $5 - $17.50.

Peterson's has one of the largest collections of flower pots and hanging planters around – redwood, ceramic, clay, plastic in many colors, shapes and designs, domestic and imported, from 2" pots to giant tubs.

Mr. Peterson has plants for evey one of them. He has over 100 varieties of plants suitable for hanging baskets, alone, and several thousand plants already growing in hanging baskets. Some are large enough to fill a small room and cost $175.

Also at Peterson's, a tremendous collection of baskets from all over the world for every imaginable use. Tiny little baskets for place favors, bread baskets, laundry baskets, picnic hampers, plant caddies, trays in all shapes and sizes, wicker chests, waste baskets, nests of baskets and on and on.

Obal has large planters for large plants – the Italian campana style in clay, and redwood up to 20". There is also a good selection of cermaic pots in various sizes, shapes, colors. Decorative plastic pots in a simple, stright-lined design look very attractive in rust, bronze, white, charcoal, dark brown. $1.29-$20.

Flowering Bulbs. Paperwhite narcissus add their freshness and fragrance to the glory of Christmas. Spectacular Amaryllis blossoms of red, white, rose, apple blossom, red and white stripes, bring living beauty to the Christmas scene. Bulbs started now will bloom during the Christmas season.

Give them as presents along with daffodils, tulips, crocus, hyacinths, for a promise of spring indoors after the Christmas trappings are gone. At Obals, Peterson's, Ambleside.

Bird Feeders. When snow covers the ground and winter winds have flailed the seeds from brush and weeds, birds that winter over need to be fed. Hang up the bird feeders. Fill them with wild bird seed, thistles, sunflower seeds, cracked corn. Bring out the suet cakes and peanut-butter and bird seed mixtures. You will have constant entertainment outside your window all winter long.

Redwood bird feeders hang from trees, top a pole, fit on a window sill. Some automatically shut off the feed when a bird leaves the perch. prices range from $5.95 to $22 for a bird feeder that holds 10 lbs. bird seed. Plastic satellite bird feeders for small birds are $9.95.

Tall, cylindrical bird feeders with metal bindings around the feeder holes are designed for feeding small birds, wild bird seed $9.95-$14.95. Tall cylinders with beak-sized apertures dole out thistle seeds to small birds $9.95 - $16.95. Yankee bird feeders $13.95-$24.95. Obals, Peterson's, Ambleside.

Obals has stacks of bird feed – thistles, peanut hearts, sunflower kernels, cracked corn, mixed bird seed and sunflower seed. The last two varieties can be purchased in 50 lb. bags. Suet cakes are also available. Peterson's and Ambleside stock wild bird seed, too.

The True Meaning of Christmas

The creche reminds us of the true meaning of Christmas - its religious origin - the gift of Love that permeates the season in a celebration of giving.

Creches from all over the world are found at Ambleside:

Mexico - dark pottery figures in white robes trimmed with gold. 12 pieces, $44.95.

Nigeria - dark figures, natural colored robes, carved from the thorns of a silk cotton tree. 12 pieces, $39.95.

Guatemala - bisque colored clay figures in 11 pieces, $24.95.

Swedish - terra cotta and enamel in colors. 11 pieces, $59.95.

Polish - stationary pieces in polished wood of natural colors, $22.50.

Bethlehem creche - 13 pieces carved in olive wood, $34.95.

East Germany - nativity set carved from 15 different kinds of wood. $49.95.

East Germany - carved wooden figures hand-painted. 14 pieces, $69.95.

Austria - wax nativity scene made from an antique mold, $3.50.

The creche is a recurring theme in Christmas cards and Christmas decorations - in globe snow-scenes at Cummins and Princeton Gift Shop, and candle carousels at Princeton Gift Shop and Ambleside.

Christmas Cards

Christmas cards, the warm remembrances, artistically and individually expressed, we send to friends, relatives and associates each year. Bright tokens of affection and appreciation, they are decoratively displayed on mantel, table top and door, in homes across the land.

Beautiful Christmas cards from Caspari picture scenes painted by European and American artists, usually museum reproductions. Princeton Gift Shop and Karelia.

Loft Gallery's Danish Christmas cards have bright-eyed and cheerful figures silk-screened on burlap in vivid colors. $1.25 each, they would make very nice framed miniatures after Christmas.

UNICEF cards, designed by artists from all over the world, are available at Cabin Creek Quilts this year. Choose from a rounded selection of many styles and contribute to a worthy cause at the same time.

Christmas Decorations for the Home

Christmas Greens. The nostalgic scent of Christmas wafts from fresh evergreens – pine, cedar, balsam, fir in wreaths, roping, boughs, cut and live Christmas trees. Peterson's and Ambleside will have them for your selection along with poinsettias, holly and misteltoe. Obal Garden Mart, Alexander Road will have live trees and poinsettias.

Wreaths. Decorated straw wreaths are at Ambleside and Peterson's. Ambleside has natural pine cone wreaths. Don't forget Rie's wreaths at Contemporary Impact. $25 for 16" braided wreath; fabric-wrapped 11" - $12.50, 7" - $6.50, in your choice of colors.

Braided wreaths with bows in calico and solids in many color combinations, $12, at Cabin Creek Quilts.

Pine cones for decorating are at Peterson's and also at Ambleside, who has them from smallest hemlock cones to largest cones from Florida and California. Ambleside also has natural-looking, but artifical, berries in all sizes.

Holiday Decorations. Christmas all through the house appears in unexpected and delightful touches. A music box pillow with needlepointed candy cane on a green background plays "Jingle Bells." Stuffed needlepoint trees and Santas are ready for your agile fingers at Clayton's Yarn Shop.

Elegantly styled ladies with intricate coiffure have a natural look that blends with evergreens, berries, pine cones to make a Christmas vignette. $24.95. Ambleside.

Ferocious looking, painted wooden nutcrackers from Germany stand ready to gnash nuts. $14.95 - $49.95. Ambleside.

Stone carvings from the Ural Mountains of Russia are polished and jewel-like in little birds, peasants, figure of a girl. $2.50 and up. Ambleside.

Globe snow scenes that create a blizzard when shaken show a creche, down-hill skier, Christmas tree. $7.50. Cummins, Princeton Gift Shop.

Wooden windmill-type candle carousels from Germany -- miniature, $12.50, to elaborate, $100. Ambleside, Princeton Gift Shop.

Candlestand in natural wood of contemporary design, holds 5 candles at different heights, $23. Nordicraft.

Father Christmases, hand-carved of wood, have different facila expressions, are dressed in hood and robe of red burlap. $24. Nordicraft.

Christmas Mobiles stir in the air – straw angels on a braided wreath, $10.50, gold angels and gold trees, $7.50, charming little girls in red dress and bonnet with white paper curls, $7.50, a mobile of straw ornaments, $9.50, 2 tiers of three-dimensional straw stars, $25.00. Nordicraft.

Felt pandas, teddy bears, puppies, frogs, lions, burros, little Red Riding Hood, $2.95 and up. Crocheted snowflakes, $1.25. Hand - painted eggshells from Czechoslovakia. $1.10 and up.

Swedish straw ornaments, stars, sheep, birds. Other birds of all kinds — wood, feathers, paper, wax medallions. All from Ambleside.

Patchwork stockings, trees, circles, bells, $1.50 - $3. Cabin Creek Quilts.

Winged wooden birds, 95 cents, pine cone people, $1.50, red wooden rings with natural birds, $1.50, straw angels, $1, miniature yarn Santas, $1.50, braided straw hearts with bells, $1.95, small wooden snowflakes, natural or red, 95 cents, small birds nests with 2 birds, $1.50. Nordicraft.

What may be the weirdest play in football history happened in a high school game in Texas a few years ago when the ball traveled 198 yards on one play – yet it actually lost a yard although it gained a first down! ... A back from one team ran the ball from his opponent's 1-yard line, but fumbled ... The ball was picked up by a player on the other team who ran 100 yards down the field but he fumbled, and the ball was picked up by a player on the team that had the ball originally ... He ran 98 yards back down the field and was tackled on the 2-yard line where his team took over again with a first and goal to go ... Thus the ball had traveled almost 200 yards, but the play lost a yard, but gained a first down!

Do you know what the highest scoring team in the history of pro football? ... Did you know that only one team has ever scored over 500 points in a season, and that was the Houston Oilers of 1961 ... They set the all-time record when they scored 513 points that season, and no other pro team has ever come close to that total ... Houston was led that year by quarterback George Blanda and running back Billy Cannon.

Tiger Five Opens Saturday against Colgate, Eyeing Another Ivy Title and 20-Game Season

One of the nation's more unusual basketball teams will open its season Saturday night in Jadwin Gymnasium when the Princeton Tigers intertain Colgate at 7:30. Coach Pete Carril's quintet will be trying to win at least 20 games for the fourth year in a row, a feat that not many colleges achieve, particularly against some of the best teams in the nation.

Odds are strong that the Tigers will win their opener, and probably the second game on their schedule — Navy at Annapolis next Wednesday. Their first major test will come Saturday, December 3, when a fine St. John's team will come here.

Colgate, 13-11 last winter, graduated its two leading scorers and has only one returning player who averaged in double figures. Last November, Princeton rolled to a 95 - 48 victory.

Two players have been lost from the team that Carril piloted to a second consecutive Ivy League title while recording a 21 - 5 mark. Captain Bob Slaughter completed his three years of eligibility, although he is still here working toward his degree, and Doug Snyder, a starting guard, did not return to college this fall. Both will be missed, particularly Slaughter for his fine defensive play which was a major factor in the Tigers' ability to lead the nation in points allowed. They yielded just 51.7 points in their 26 games — the runner up was a distant eight points farther back.

Rich Starsia, a 6-5 senior who has played two seasons in limited reserve action, has been named by Carril to replace Slaughter. He will team at one of the forward positioos with 6-5 Frank Sowinski, a two - year letterman.

Sowinski is quite likely to draw double - teaming from many opponents, regardless of the kind of defense they use, because of his extreme accuracy. He connected last year on 63 percent of his shots, a performance good enough to rank him fifth in the nation. When Sowinski has that kind of touch, and the Princeton defense is in charge, the opposition is almost invariably in trouble.

Frank Sowinski
5th Nationally in Accuracy

Pete Carril
4th Straight 20-Game Season?

Billy Omeltchenko
He Has Only One Appendix

In the backcourt, senior Bill Omeltchenko will again direct the offense and provide a full share of defensive ability. No one doubted his value to the Tigers last winter, but it was proved painfully to them, and to him, when he underwent an appendectomy in early January. The Tigers were promptly upset by Penn in the Palestra and then lost on the road to St. John's, the pair of setbacks totalling 40 percent of their defeats for the entire season.

A second newcomer — like Starsia — will work with Omeltchenko in the back court. Confounding his numerous well wishers, Carril will go with junior John Lewis, a 6-4 guard, when almost everyone had expected him to use the more experienced Rich Rizzuto, a 5-10 senior. "I know what Rizzuto can do," Carril declared, implying that he was willing to gamble a bit and strengthen his bench by having Rizzuto available there.

There is, actually, a shade more depth than usual at Carril's disposal. He has a fine reserve forward in 6-3 Bob Kleinert, who has more than a little of Sowinski's accuracy when he is in form.

He has a 6-11 replacement in junior Tom Young for his starting center, 6-8 Bob Roma, who had a great sophomore year last winter. Young lacks strength, but there are times when he turns in a surprising number of points while Roma is on the bench with foul problems. He also gets his share of blocked shots.

Tony Trani, a Princeton resident now a sophomore by way of the Hun and Lawrenceville schools, is among the newcomers on the 15 - man squad who will see reserve action. With three seniors starting and two others his principal reserves, Carril will no doubt use his juniors and sophomores whenever the opportunity arises.

The schedule is the usual blockbuster. After St. John's come Fordham at Madison Square Garden, Villanova and Rutgers here, and then participation in both the Indiana Classic and the Holiday Festival at the Garden. The Tigers' opening round opponent in both tournaments? Alabama, likely to be ranked among the nation's top ten.

SKATERS SEEK VICTORY

After Tie and a Defeat. Some teams miss out on victories because they start too late, but Princeton's hockey team was without a triumph in its first two games because it could not score in the second or third periods or in one 10-minute overtime session.

The Tigers began their season Wednesday night in Baker Rink with a pair of power play goals to lead Merrimack, 2-0, at the end of the first period. Some two hours later, they had been blanked in 50 minutes of play and brought back to a 2-2 tie. At New Haven Saturday night, they were no worse than 1-all after 20 minutes but could not find the mark again and lost to Yale, 4-1. Princeton outshot the Blue, 41 to 35, getting 31 on target in the last two periods without having one go in.

Indication that the offense will take time to mature came early in the game against Merrimack when the Tigers had a highly unusual two-man advantage for a full two minutes, and could not score. A pair of the visitors were called for infractions simultaneously, but first-game inexperience did as much to shackle the home team as did the Warriors' defense, and they managed only two shots on goal.

Princeton got its first goal when it was a man long again, senior Barry Wihack beating the Merrimack goalie to cap action directly in front of the cage. Assists went to freshmen Gary McClellan and Jim Farrell.

Farrell made it 2-0 four minutes later, whistling a sharp shot into the far corner from a position 25 feet out to the left of the cage. Seniors Frank Techar and John Van Siclen set Farrell up with accurate passes.

Momentum Shifts. The momentum swung Merrimack's way in the second and third periods, as it gained the edge in shots on goal and put two of them past Fred Cherne. The second one was made possible when a clearing pass from a Princeton defender landed on a Merrimack stick at the blue line and the resultant slap shot found the near corner of the cage.

Craig Tresham
Only a Shutout Averted

Each team had a one-on-none breakaway in overtime but failed to score. Princeton outshot the visitors in sudden-death, gaining a 31-30 edge for the night, but the tie was not broken.

At New Haven, Yale gained revenge for having provided the Tigers with two of their three victories last winter. An unassisted goal by Craig Treshman midway through the first period allowed Princeton to skate off deadlocked at 1, but the Elis produced two in the middle stanza and one more in the final round. Yale had played Penn (winning, 4-3) the night before but took both games to equal the number of Ivy victories it recorded all last winter.

Brown, which will be playing the first game of its season, was on the Tigers' schedule Tuesday night at Providence. The Bruins won both meetings between the teams last year, 7-2 and 11-2. Next Saturday, the Orange and Black will be at Hanover to face a Dartmouth sextet that began its season with a 5-4 sudden-death triumph over Harvard at Cambridge.

NJSIAA ROAD ENDS

For West Windsor Eleven. Every coach has to suffer through one; a game in which his players out-perform the opposition but still lose because of key mistakes and turnovers.

For West Windsor coach Rex Walker, that time unfortunately came when his team was battling Highland Park Saturday in a NJSIAA Central Jersey Group One semifinal playoff. Highland Park won, 20-7. Both teams entered the contest with 6-1-1 records.

Three times WW moved inside the Highland Park 15 and three times it came away empty-handed. While the Pirates were moving up and down the field, the home team scored on a one-yard plunge with less than one minute left in the half.

Then came the play which "broke the game," according to Walker. HP's Bob MacKinney returned the opening kickoff of the second half 76 yards to give the victors a 14-0 margin. It was, as far as he knew, said Walker, the first kickoff return the Pirates had allowed in their five-year history.

West Windsor finally got on the board with 7:13 left to play when Chris Gillette scored on a five-yard run. Any thoughts of a miracle finish were erased, however, when HP covered the dribble kick and drove 53 yards for its third touchdown.

Primarily a rushing team, WW had tried to surprise the Owls with its passing game, quarterback Ralph Barletta completing 10 of 17 for 187 yards compared to 54 yards in the air for HP. WW lost two of its four fumbles, while HP recovered all of its three.

SEASON ENDS SUNDAY

For Carnegie Sailors. A warm, mild Sunday saw four Sunfish and four Lasers compete in five races on the next to last race day of the season.

The Sunfish races were won by Dick Jesser with Bruce Cleveland second and Hera Kwiatkowski third. The Laser series was won by Peter Grosz, followed by Bob Holzman and Rick Ober.

The last race day will be on Sunday, then weather permitting a frost-bite series is planned starting January 1. Sunfish sailors interested should contact Peter Grosz 924-6019.

Lois Paul Wins Contest!

On Saturday, November 5, 1977, the annual Yale/Princeton Football Game was held at Palmer Stadium in Princeton. In honor of the event, First Jersey Savings held their 3rd annual Guess the Score Contest. The grand prize winner, who came the closest to the exact score was Lois Paul of Princeton, with her guess of Yale, 44 – Princeton, 6. As Grand Prize Winner, Ms. Paul will be awarded a 19" portable color TV. In addition, handsomely made stuffed bulldogs and tigers were awarded as bonus prizes for 200 runners-up.

*The runners-up were determined by the closest guess to the actual score, in accordance with the rules of one winner per family. Where duplicate scores were involved, the winner was decided by a random drawing.

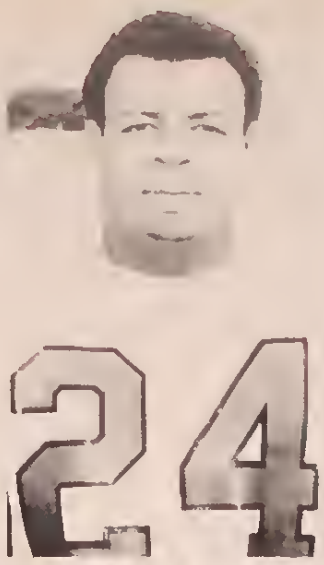
Yale a Good Bet to Keep Ivy Football Title; Dartmouth in Trouble—Tigers Might Move Up

The extent to which Yale has a hammerlock on Ivy League football should be demonstrated by the time the 1978 season comes to an end on November 18. Twelve months away from that date, it appears that the Elis will again be the dominant team, very possibly finishing on top for the third time in four years, while seven others chase them with diminishing degrees of success.

All that keeps the Elis from being the odds-on favorites to repeat as league champions is the question of where Carmen Cozza, their highly successful coach, will be when practice begins next August. He has been reported as being interested in leaving New Haven, and unless one of his assistants is picked to replace him, any major change in coaching personnel could affect the bright picture there.



Bobby Isom
No One Like Him Coming Along

Whether or not Cozza stays, of course, Yale does face the loss by graduation of John Pagliaro, its best running back in a decade, and of Captain Bob Rizzo, the quarterback who developed so rapidly toward the end of the season as the the Blue ran over Cornell, Princeton and Harvard by a combined score of 96 to 14. Pagliaro was the Ivies' only super-star this season, and his loss alone will serve to bring the Elis back to the pack to some extent.

Nonetheless, the winning tradition is currently entrenched at Yale and until someone else comes along to wrench it away, it is illogical to install another team as the Ivy favorite. As it has been for several seasons, freshman material was solid, and it is the college whose recruiting can produce good back-to-back classes that reaps victories steadily at the varsity level.

Dartmouth in Trouble. If one team of the remaining seven appears headed for a lower finish in the 1978 standings, it is likely to be Dartmouth. Not only did the Green lose three of its last five games, but lost its coach too, when Jake Crouthamel decided a life-long career in the sport was not for him.

Whoever his successor is (Cozza of Yale and Joe Yuckica of Boston College have been mentioned) will begin the season without the two top running backs of this fall, Curt Oberg and Sam Coffey, and without an established quarterback. Further darkening the picture at Hanover is the fact that the Class of 1980 was the first subpar group of freshmen in a number of years. Dartmouth, out of first division just once in the current decade, may not make it there next fall.

As was the case this year, Brown and Harvard appear best equipped to give Yale competition for the title it now holds. Each will return an established quarterback, Larry Brown (of Harvard), the Ivies' total offense leader this fall, and the Bruins' Mark Whipple, the runner-up, are both juniors.

Harvard's problem is its perennial inconsistency--the Crimson almost invariably loses one or more games in which it is heavily favored, as it did last year to Cornell and this year to Princeton. Brown, for the third straight year, must open its season with Yale, an assignment neither college enjoys but must live with for the foreseeable future. Neither Brown nor Harvard appeared to have topflight freshman material this fall, but the flow of good personnel to both campuses is steady and both figure to retain their berths in first division, where they have been for the last four years.

Penn Was Impressive. The surprise team of 1977 was Pennsylvania, where Harry Gamble's coaching achievement was second only to that of Cozza in winning another championship for Yale. Gamble overcame the fact that not a single player on his 80-man squad could throw the ball well by installing a wishbone attack that proved immensely successful.

So adept was his instruction that he made the offense go with a quarterback, John Roland, who wasn't even on the pre-season depth chart at the position, and a fullback, Tom Grosvenor, who wasn't even on the pre-season roster. The Penn freshmen, almost invariably weak as a team, were again, but Gamble moved up from a 3-6 season in 1976 to 5-4 overall this year and first division in the league. He should be there again, possibly at 5-2, Ivy, and 6-3 overall.

The teams which finished seventh and eighth this year are unlikely to improve themselves. Columbia, able to beat Penn but no one else, loses a two-year quarterback in Kevin Burns and its top ball carrier in Bruce Stephens. The Lions invariably lack depth, their freshman class is not promising and the ability to move upward that had been within hoping distance is apparently not there.

It is difficult to conceive of a Blackman - coached team being markedly below par, and judgment here may be based too completely on the type of football Cornell played in losing, 34-0, to Princeton, but the Red will surprise next fall if it does more than vacate the cellar at Columbia's ex-

AT LAST, A PRECISION ENGINEERED GERMAN LUXURY CAR WITHOUT THE LUXURY PRICE.

If you've always wanted to own a fine German luxury sedan, but haven't felt like paying the high price, you now have an alternative.
The Revolutionary new Audi 5000.
Like the Mercedes 280SE ($21,687)* and the BMW 530i ($13,620)* the Audi offers all the precision engineering, luxury and craftsmanship American drivers have come to expect from fine German sedans.
But unlike Mercedes and BMW, the Audi 5000's price is a modest $9,195*.
On top of that, the new Audi gives you engineering features you just can't get from the other two. Like front-wheel-drive for superb traction under any driving condition. And the world's first five-cylinder gasoline engine—a unique powerplant that combines the smoothness and performance of six cylinders, with the economy of four.
Can an automobile with such a modest price ever hope to seriously compete with such fine machinery as Mercedes and BMW? Well, consider this: In Germany (The home of Mercedes and BMW), the Audi 5000 is already the best-selling car in its class.
Discover for yourself what German drivers already know. Test-drive the Audi 5000 at your local Audi dealer today.

'78 Ivy Football Race

pense. Rebuilding is a long, slow process (only John Anderson at Brown has achieved it in two seasons in recent Ivy history), and Blackman will again work with sub-par material at Ithaca next fall.

Tigers Unpredictable. Somewhere in between Yale, Brown and Harvard at the top, and Columbia and Cornell at the bottom should be Princeton. Depth and size will be better, but there will be a brand new quarterback, and there will not be a Bobby Isom, or anything close to what he achieved this year with a 3-6 team.

Either sophomore Ken Barrett or freshman Mark Lockenmeyer, the best of half a dozen quarterbacks in the Class of 1980, will replace Kirby Lockart, who started 16 of the last 18 games in his varsity career. Lockhart's statistics were good, (a 55 percent completion average) but his slow release meant that he was sacked with considerable frequency and many of his completions were either just beyond the line of scrimmage or into the flat, where defenders tend to lay off the receiver. In his two years as a starter, he beat only Columbia (twice), Harvard and Cornell. Off his limited varsity experience, Barrett will have the edge when practice begins but Lockenmeyer showed considerable ability as a freshman. Both can throw long and hit a moving target, which Princeton football badly needs.

In addition to Isom and Lockhart, slot back Glenn Robinson and tight end Frank Vuono on the offensive unit are seniors but the other six members of the line, four of them two-year veterans, will return, and that should be a big plus for 1978.On defense, the primary losses will be the ends, Bill Mitchell and Tim Earley, and safety Dave Powers, but this is very little numerically. Good holdover varsity personnel will be back, and the freshmen (3-2-1) are distinctly above average. Their 13-12 victory over Yale was the first such triumph for the Orange and Black in eight years.

There has been a major degree of unwarranted optimism about Princeton football for several years, and only one season as high as .500 in the past eight. Material on which to build a better team is there, none of the other Ivies is likely to be markedly stronger than this year, but no realistic Princeton football fan will believe that 5-4 or 6-3 will replace 3-6 until he sees it posted as the record for 1978.

Schoolboy Hockey Set

The 30th annual Lawrenceville School hockey tournament will be played Wednesday and Thursday, December 14 and 15, at Baker and Lavino rinks.

Entries will be Belmont Hill, Browne & Nichols, Canterbury, Hill, Nichols, St. Jerome's, Trinity-Pawling and the host school, Lawrenceville. The tournament was originated in 1947 by Charles R. Erdman, Jr. of Boudinot Street, who continues as a member of the committee in charge, Nicholas F. Gusz of Lawrenceville and Donald R. Young of Princeton serve as chairman and treasurer.

CLOCK STRIKES 12 For PHS Soccer Team. Two games earlier than it had hoped, the season has come to an end for the Princeton High School soccer team. But what a season, nonetheless.

The Little Tigers were eliminated Friday, 1-0, by Lawrence High School in the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 state championship in a game that was just as close as the score indicated. "What a helluva game; that was fun to watch," said PHS coach Ed Beacham. "It was," he conceded, "a tough way to end the season." "We played well, but Lawrence has a nice club."

An interesting assignment for PHS soccer buffs would be to find out when the last time PHS advanced as far as this year's team in the state playoffs. No one seems to know.

As it was, PHS ended this season with a 10-8-1 record. In comparison, it won just four last year – Beacham's first year as head coach.

Although they lost, the Little Tigers were superb in defeat, playing perhaps one of their best games of the season. They played the fast-improving Cardinals dead-even until 8:04 was left in the game, when Joe Pascarella took a pass from John Mansfield, went one-on-one against PHS goalie Sandy Howell and beat him with a shot right up the middle.

"We had a lot of good chances early in the game" (two "sure goals" off the foot of PHS high scorer Ron Celestin were deflected at the last moment by Lawrence goalie Chris Carpenter), observed Beacham. Our kids played a helluva game. It was great soccer."

By consensus, PHS had nothing to be ashamed of. It gave its best shot and came up short but not before letting Lawrence, which has already won seven state championships under coach Lou Angebranndt, knew it was in a struggle. Earlier in the month, Lawrence had defeated PHS, 5-1, and in their first meeting the two teams battled to a 2-2 deadlock.

Now all Lawrence has to do is defeat Delran (15-2-2) in this Tuesday's state semi-final and then win one more and it will have its eighth state title in hand. Lawrence's record is 10-4-5.

Lawrence outshot PHS, 25-23, but PHS enjoyed an 11-7 advantage in the final period and had a 5-4 edge in corner kicks. The score might well have been 2-0 except for a brilliant save by Howell near the end of the game.

Mansfield broke away and came bearing down on Howell at full tilt. Howell moved out from the net to cut down the angle – farther, he said later, than he should have. But when Mansfield unloaded, Howell and the ball arrived at the same time, the ball caroming off past the net. Howell ended with 10 saves.

PHS Ousts East Brunswick. Earlier in the week, PHS had advanced to the Group 2 finals by defeating top-seeded South Brunswick, 3-2. Although the Vikings entered the contest with a 15-2 record, Beacham

The Peugeot 604 SL gives you comfort and roadability the Cadillac Seville can't deliver.

To experience the superior riding comfort and roadability of the Peugeot 604, you have to drive it yourself. When you do, you'll discover a level of satisfaction the Cadillac Seville can't provide.

Smoother ride
Unlike Seville, the Peugeot 604 has McPherson struts for extra-long vertical wheel travel. And oversized shock absorbers designed and patented by Peugeot.

Better handling
Four-wheel independent suspension and weight distribution that's nearly perfect give the 604 better road holding characteristics than the Seville.

Tighter cornering
The 604's turning circle is 4½ feet smaller in diameter than Seville's.

Better braking
In 70 to 0 tests, the Peugeot 604 stopped short of Seville by over ten feet.*

More precise steering
Unlike the Seville, the Peugeot 604 has power-assisted rack and pinion steering, so you can park with ease without losing the feel of the road at highway speeds.

Lower price
The Seville starts at around $13,350. A comparably equipped Peugeot 604 SL lists for about $1,600 less.†

Naturally both cars give you comfortable interiors. But for a much lower price, the Peugeot 604 gives you the total driving comfort only a true European grand touring sedan can deliver.

had confidence that the superior caliber of play among Mercer County schools would carry the Little Tigers through. "I think these teams would be .500 teams in Mercer County," he said.

PHS jumped out to a 2-0 lead after ten minutes on goals by Pierre Muri and Pat Gautier. However, two goals by Stan Balcomb, his second in the third period, tied it at 2. In the final period, Gautier took a perfect feed from Jon Miller and rammed it past the Viking goalie to give PHS its winning margin. On the same day, Lawrence was edging North Plainfield, 2-1, to set up their meeting.

And next year? Will PHS continue to surprise on the soccer field? Beacham reported that he loses about seven players, including Howell, fullback Dave Wilson, two wings and his midfield. But Celestin, the sophomore standout from Haiti, who Beacham predicts will be the outstanding player in the county before he graduates, will return to form the nucleous of next year's team.

Having tasted the rewards of being a winner, the Little Tigers have no intentions of reverting to an also-ran.

IN FINAL GAME: Senior Mike King was a standout in the Princeton High defensive line in the Little Tiger's 14-13 victory over Trenton.

TIGERS OUSTED, 3-0

In NCAA Soccer. Princeton's first participation in the NCAA soccer tournament since the event was originated 39 years ago lasted one afternoon -- just long enough for the Tigers to be eliminated by Philadelphia Textile.

The final score of the game on Bedford Field Wednesday was 3-0, all of the victors' goals coming in the second half. The loss pegged Princeton's final record at 11-5, the first time an Orange and Black soccer team has won that many games.

PHS WINS FINALE

14-13 Over Trenton. The disappointing season ended on an upbeat: the Princeton High School football team Saturday edged Trenton, 14-13, in its final game to finish with a 4-5 record.

The Little Tigers thus continued their recent mastery of the Tornadoes. It marked the third consecutive year they have come from behind in the final period to frustrate Trenton. This year's comeback was not as dramatic as the previous two, since there was still 5:51 left in the game when Barry Turner bucked over from the one to bring the visiting Blue and White within one, 13-12.

Without hestitation ("What the hell is a tie to us in a season like this," said PHS coach Jim Beachell, PHS line up for the two-point conversion attempt. Knowing who to go to when he needed yardage, quarterback Tommy Seiler pitched the ball back to Turner, who took it over.

It was another gutsy performance by Turner who rushed for 109 yards. He had scored the apparent first TD in the game in the first period when he took a screen pass from Seiler and rambled 46 yards to the end zone. A clip nullified the six points.

It remained for the home-team Tornadoes to get on the board first. With 3:43 left in the period, Trenton quarterback Craig Sapp caught the PHS secondary with a long pass to Aaron Rowell, the play covering 57 yards. It was Sapp's first pass attempt. The extra point kick by Willie McIntyre was low.

In the second period, needing inches for a first down from the PHS 46, Trenton decided to go for it but was stopped by Mike Long and the center of the PHS line. Two plays later, Seiler went the remaining 45 yards on a keeper for his longest run of the season. His chance to put his teammates in the lead fizzled when a poor snap led to a hurried kick that was low and wide.

Trenton Goes Ahead. Trenton regained the lead in the third period. Following the recovery of a PHS fumble on the 31, it drove downfield, the big gainer a 36-yard run by Ken Reese, Trenton's top runner, to the PHS eight. Three running plays neeted one yard. On his last chance, Sapp hit Reese coming out of the backfield with a pass that beat the defending Bobby Campbell and Kieran Esposito.

Two penalties moved the ball back to the 13, requiring McIntyre to try the extra point kick from the 20. But he hit it and Trenton led, 13-6.

Less than eight minutes remained when Chris McDonald intercepted a jump pass to give PHS the ball on the Trenton 47. A burst by Turner plus a 15-yard penalty carried the ball to the 19. The last four plays were: Turner plus eight; Turner first down on the three; Turner to the one; Turner over for the score.

Asked to explain Princeton's success over Trenton, Beachell attributed it to "a little more discipline on our part at this point."

High Hopes Unfulfilled. Four years ago, when Beachell was in his first year as head coach, the PHS freshman football team was undefeated–the first freshman team to achieve such a record. On that squad were such players as Keith Wadsworth, Bobby Campbell, Cory Easter, Chris Cahill, Brian Cleveland and Peter Gorman. The expectation was that when they became seniors, PHS would be a leading contender on the gridiron.

It never happened. "I expected to be 5-4," said Beachell. "I knew we were going to have problems at quarterback.

"When everyone you play knows you have problems throwing the ball, they can bring up their linebackers and backs. It makes it pretty tough to run.

"It's hard to take a kid who has never been a quarterback and expect him to throw the ball," continued Beachell.

Despite 17 returning lettermen, Beachell had to solve the overriding problem of how to fill the gap left when Todd Blackledge, the 6-3, 215-lb. sophomore quarterback who could run the option and pass, moved away. The first choice was Dave Miller, a fine defensive back. He hurt his shoulder and couldn't make it as a passer; another candidate quit the team. It was Seiler's job by default.

Faced with a crash program, Seiler, a junior, performed exceedingly well. He developed with each game but his passing was never a factor. Like Blackledge before him, he will leave the Princeton area before next fall.

Which means, pointed out Beachell, we've lost five quarterbacks in three years. Aside from the 44-6 rout of St. Anthony, when Esposito got in for a few plays at quarterback, Beachell was unable to test anyone.

As a consequence, he will start his fifth season again without an experienced quarterback. It will be, by necessity, another rebuilding year, but Beachell and his staff are hoping the results will be better than the season just ended.

Seniors on the squad include Dave Miller, Keith Wadsworth, Robert Campbell, Chris McDonald, Tony Lemar, Cory Easter, Elio Perone, Dan Alcazar, Brian Cleveland, Peter Gorman, Dean Boyer, Karim El-Meligi, Andre Intartaglia, John Morris, Lance Phox, Adam Bierman, Chris Cahill and Mike King.

ready to exhibit, in early 1961, the giant sloth was retired to pasture; there wasn't room for both of them. The sloth is now in Smith's Clove, New York, in a 19-th century barn rigged up as an old-time country museum.

What about the loss to the geology department itself, if the museum has to go?

In any natural history museum, Dr. Judson points out, there are two parts: the display area and the collection area. The latter is the true backbone, he says, and in Princeton's case, it's a good strong backbone, heavily used by students. Small internal exhibits from the present museum might be kept for the department's own use, he suggested, but they would not be open to the public.

Pranksters have had gentle fun over the years with all the old Guyot bones. Donald Baird, who's been around for 20 years, recalls grotesque feet put on the cave bear for Hallowe'en. Others remember green ribbons festooning the Irish elk's antlers on St. Patrick's Day.

In the University's chain of decision-making, the question will go from the office of Provost Neil Rudenstine with a recommendation, to the office of the President William Bowen and from him, with a recommendation, to the board of trustees.

Dr. Judson himself doesn't want to see the museum go, but he says,

"Given the choice between the museum and the new library, I'd rather have the amenity of a good reading room."

CANDLELIGHT TOUR SET

Of Historic Houses. A candlelight tour of two historic Revolutinnary houses in the Princeton area will take place on Sunday, December 11, from 1 until 5. The tour is sponsored by the three Princeton Garden clubs.

The Thomas Clarke house on the Princeton Battlefield will be decorated in the 18th century manner by members of the Dogwood Garden Club. This house was used as a hospital after the battle of Princeton in January of 1777. General Hugh Mercer died there a few days after being fatally wounded in the crucial engagement.

The Stony Brook Garden Club will provide the Christmas atmosphere for "Rockingham," Washington's headquarters near Rocky Hill. "Rockingham" is one of the oldest houses in the Millstone valley, on Route 518 east of Rocky Hill. Here General Washington and his wife lived for three months while the Continental Congress was in session in Princeton, in 1783.

Tickets will be $3 to benefit the Garden Club of New Jersey's Headquarters Building Fund. They may be obtained at either house the day of the tour. The decorations will remain throughout the holidays, but the houses can only be seen by candlelight this one afternoon.

Refreshments will be served at Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street the headquarters of the Princeton Historical Society which will be decorated by the Garden Club of the Princeton Historical Society which will be decorated by the Garden Club of Princeton. This house will be open from 1 to 5 also.

For further information call Mrs. Alan Carrick, 924-2398.

CRAFT FAIR SET

In Kingston. The Kingston Business Association will hold its first annual Antique and Craft Show at the Kingston Firehouse on Saturday, from 10 til 6.

A variety of antique dealers and craftspeople from the surrounding area will be represented. Dorothy Oppenheim of Owen's Antiques, Kingston, will feature a selection of antique jewelry. The Now 'n Then Shop of Cranbury will offer a display of antique furniture, glass and china.

Craftspeople include William Weber, colonial pewterer from Blooming Glen, Pa. who will be demonstrating his craft, and Warren Jeffrey Terhune of Bloomfield, exhibiting stained glass terrariums, mirrors and jewelry boxes of his own design. Luncheon will be available.

DECEMBERFEST SET

By Watersheds Association. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association will hold a "Decemberfest" and Auction Saturday, December 11, form 5 to 8 at the Institute for Advanced Study. Admission is $8 and nonmembers are welcome.

Before the bidding begins, participants will have a light Florentine supper catered by Richard M. Ferrugio, a 1971 graduate of Princeton University who has made a specialty of catering special affairs in diverse styles of cookery. Taking part in the auction will be past and present mayors of Princeton Township, Jay Bleiman and Josie Hall, Mr. Bleiman will serve as auctioneer, and Mrs. Hall and her husband will offer for bid a paddle tennis party for six at their home with drinks afterward.

The festival is part of the Watersheds Association membership drive, and proceeds from the auction will supplement funds for maintaining its varied programs. Up for bid will be an early morning bird walk through the Institute Woods during spring warbler migration led by Thomas C. Southerland Jr., or a day's trip for four to Brigantine Wildlife Preserve near Atlantic City, led by Dolly Minis during water birds migration.

Autographed books by John McPhee and Fletcher Knebel will be auctioned as well as French wines, a New England shore dinner for six, backgammon and tennis lessons and the use of vacation homes in Florida, Martha's Vineyard and Cape Cod. Participants may also bid on a load of horse manure for the garden or firewood for the fireplace.
